ROOSEVELT AND ADVISORS SHAPE NEW TAX BILL

Conference Is Held Behind Closed Doors

By Melbourne Christerson
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and his fiscal advisors today canvassed the back ground for an administration tax bill at a closed-door conference which coincided with the reported collapse of one wing of the congressional inflation drive.

After a poll of the house, representative Boland, the democratic whip, reported that only 94 of the 317 house democrats had signified themselves definitely in favor of the $3,000,000,000 Frazier-Lemke bill, designed to refinance farm debt with new currency. Both Boland and Speaker Byrns asserted the measure would be "slaughtered" if it came to a vote.

A late afternoon White House conference, attended by Secretary Morgenthau and Daniel Bell, the acting budget director, revived previous reports that the Roosevelt tax plan might be sent to the Capitol next week.

Neither the treasury chief nor Bell would comment. Previous reports, however, had described the immediate tax plan as aimed primarily at the raising of between $450,000,000 and $500,000,000 to finance the proposed farm program, replacing the invalidated AAA.

Two other developments strengthened these indications:

1—In usually reliable congressional quarters the president was reported to be awaiting income tax returns before deciding finally whether to propose any new taxes to finance such outlays as the bonus payments.

2—Financial experts elsewhere predicted substantial increases in corporation and individual income tax returns on the basis of 1935 business improvement.

Late in the day Representative Boland handed Speaker Byrns the result of his poll. Of the 317 hour democrats, he said, 178 will vote against the Frazier-Lemke measure, 94 will vote for it and 45 are doubtbful.

Mussolini Predicts Worldwide Disaster

London, Feb. 9.—(Sunday)—(AP)—The Sunday Observer in an interview today quotes Premier Mussolini as saying the British "have turned a colonial war into what may yet be a worldwide disaster."

The interview was with Sir Arnold Wilson, a member of parliament.

Referring to the now deal Hoare-Laval peace proposal, Il Duce was quoted:

"I had already drafted a cautious formula of acceptance as a basis of negotiation x x when the news came that you gentlemen in London who had praised Sir Samuel Hoare so highly in September had dismissed him with ignominy Dec. 19.

"As a direct result of your action much Ethiopian and some Italian blood must be spent. You have prolonged the war. A great responsibility lies on you."

Greatest Dollar Day For Jacksonville to Be Observed Tuesday

Jacksonville residents and those from a wide area who come here to trade with the merchants know exactly what is meant when Dollar Day is announced. They know that they will find in local stores an abundance of low-priced merchandise, bargains of every description, to fit every need and desire. It is with full understanding of the spirit in which the buying public receive this news that merchants today make announcement of Dollar Day, Tuesday, Feb. 11.

Owing to the unusual cold weather, sales have been slow, and merchants have on hand large stocks of goods they must unload before filling their shelves with new spring merchandise. They are giving the shoppers a double advantage in advertising at this time a large assortment of articles which would have been sold at higher prices under normal conditions. The fact that this Dollar Day sale is being held at this time should bring the shoppers to this city in unprecedented crowds.

The bargains cover a wide range of articles. Every need of the individual and the home has been anticipated. There are supplies as well for the farm at unusually low prices, things that will be needed as spring activities get under way. There are food bargains, clothing bargains, furniture and items for the home, and bargains that will attract people of every taste and desire.

As has been said, the buying public has found Dollar Day in Jacksonville to be a real source of shopping satisfaction. This event Tuesday will be no exception to the rule. Shoppers will come into the business district assured in their own minds that they are going to get the worth of every cent they spend.

In order that consumers may know in advance what bargains they can secure and where they are to be found, it is advised that the advertisements placed by merchants in this paper be carefully read. Every item is meant for somebody, and every reader will surely find something especially desired. Remember, it is Tuesday, Feb. 11, and it's DOLLAR DAY especially for YOU. Jacksonville merchants consider your needs and your pocketbook. Come and prove it.

SENATOR CLAIMS AAA SUBSTITUTE NOT FARM BILL

Is Proposal To Carry Out Wallace And Tugwell Ideas

By D. Harold Oliver
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Administration leaders concentrated all their energies today toward pushing the soil conservation subsidy bill through congress next week as the spearhead of a drive toward an adjournment by May 1.

In the face of an amendment rush and an assertion by Senator King (D-Utah), that the AAA replacement measure was not a farm bill but a proposal to "carry out the ideas of Tugwell and Wallace," Chairman Smith (D-SC) of the agricultural committee said he had plenty of votes to block an opposition recommittal move.

Smith added that the legislation would be sent to the house by Wednesday at the latest. House farm leaders cleared the way for consideration by Thursday, apparently regardless of whether the senate acts before that.

President Roosevelt again went over the question of taxes to finance the new farm program, this time with Secretary Morgenthau and Daniel W. Bell, acting budget director.

Privately, some leaders said a definite adjournment date hinged largely on whether the supreme court throws out any more new deal acts. Such occurrences to date have invariably led to legislative substitutes.

The Smith-Jones bill to authorize federal subsidies to farmers directly or through states which set up soil-improvement programs conforming to basic principles outlined by the secretary of agriculture is one substitute. Railroad pension and farm mortgage moratorium laws enacted last summer were others.

Hitting the soil conservation proposal today, Senator King added in an interview:

"It would be better to give a subsidy to the farmers based upon production. If we want to help the farmers we should make a direct appropriation and have it distributed where it is needed.

"But to put $50,000,000 in the hands of the AAA to be spent where it pleases will disappoint the farmers, will prove unsatisfactory, and will increase prices to the consumer. It is discriminatory legislation."

Central Illinois Being Faced With Fuel Shortage

Supplies Of Coal At All Mines Diminishing As Temperature Falls

Springfield, Ill., Feg. 8.—(AP)—A sudden drop in the temperature—which sent the mercury down 20 degrees in less than two hours—brought fresh alarm of an acute coal shortage in central Illinois.

Supplies of coal at all mines were rapidly diminishing. Orders for fuel poured into mine company offices as frantic efforts were made to replenish coal bins. Trucks waited hours in line to get even a small portion of fuel.

While there was no immediate shortage in Springfield, mine officials feared that "hysteria buying" might cause actual suffering in neighboring cities and villages, which depend largely on the output here.

Four mines were hoisting coal today and four shafts at Taylorville were reported operating. With one exception the mines all employ members of the United Mine Workers of America.

Bundesen Party Is Marooned At Home Of Farmer

Forty Persons Are Caught In Blizzard Near DeKalb, Ill.

Bulletin

De Kalb, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Two snowplows came to the rescue tonight of 40 persons, including Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, who is seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and a party of political colleagues marooned in the James Mattison farmhouse, three miles north of here, for more than three hours.

Dr. Bundesen and seven other Democratic candidates were brought to De Kalb in two taxi cabs which followed the snowplows into the city. The taxis and snowplows were sent to the farmhouse by DeKalb friends of the marooned party. It required more than an hour for the snowplows to break a path through the eight and ten feet drifts.

De Kalb, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Forty persons, including Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, democrat candidate for governor, and a party of fellow campaigners, were marooned tonight in the farmhouse of James Mattison three miles north of here.

Members of the party reported by telephone that today's blizzard, sweeping deep drifts over the roads, had made them impassable.

Winding up a preliminary campaign tour of the state, the Bundesen party was on its way from De Kalb to Sycamore when their cars gave up in the storm. They had planned to be in Chicago tomorrow.

A number of those who sought refuge in the farmhouse were suffering from frozen ears and nipped feet.

With Dr. Bundesen, who is president of the Chicago Board of Health, were State Treasurer John Stelle, a candidate for lieutenant governor on the Bundesen ticket; Attorney General Otto Kerner; John C. Martin, former head of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission and candidate for state treasurer, and Edwin V. Champion, Peoria state's attorney, candidate for congressman-at-large.

Others snowbound at the Mattison home included: the Rev. J. W. Gillespie, pastor of the First Baptist church at Sycamore, and his wife; Leonard Condon, prominent Rockford attorney; Lewis Long, Sandwich, Ill., another candidate for congressman-at-large; Mrs. Frank Novotny, Chicago, widow of the late mayor of suburban Berwyn, and Harry Smith, one of Dr. Bundesen's secretaries.

Count Covadonga Is Recovering

Havana, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The 28-year-old Count of Covadonga, strengthened by injections of the blood of commoners, appeared tonight to be recovering from a near-fatal attack of hemophilia.

Physicians reported that the count, who renounced his rights to the Spanish throne to wed a Cuban commoner, was resting easily after a good sleep. Physicians expressed the opinion late today that he was passing the crisis satisfactorily.

Blood injections were continued during the day. These injections and a transfusion from two Cuban women and a Cuban man, they said, saved the life of the former crown prince.

His condition is still serious but the doctors predicted a "happy outcome."

The count was able to discuss his condition today with members of his wife's family.

LEPROSY VICTIM

Milwauke, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Dr. Harry Sargeant, superintendent of the County General Hospital, said today that a final diagnosis revealed Mrs. Maggie Perry, 54, is the victim of leprosy. It was the first leprosy case reported here in 14 years.

BORAH INVITES HIS OPPONENTS OUT INTO OPEN

Senator Asks Them To Declare Their Preference

By Edward J. Duffy
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Senator Borah of Idaho tonight challenged forces against him for the presidential nomination to "come into the open" and declare their preference.

Prompted by objections to him by the former republican chairman, Simeon Fess of Ohio, the candidate attacked plans of the Ohio party organization to seek a "favorite son" convention delegation in the Buckeye state primaries May 12 as "sham and deception."

"A scheme, or system, which deprives the people of a fair chance to have part in selecting the candidate for president," his statement said, "is a travesty upon popular government, and all platform declarations which may be written will not erase that thought from the minds of the voters on November first."

Borah's militance contributed to the ever-developing political pattern.

On the democratic side, developments dealt mainly with policies of campaign-issue importance. Modification rather than aggressive advancement of the New Deal seemed the trend.

On the republican side, the Borah declaration of candidacy still left doubts among some as to whether he was primarily bent on winning it, or on influencing the platform. His potential rivals bided their time, arousing speculation over how and where the expected attempt to head him off would be made.

On both sides, the possibility of some leaders putting party regularity second in the campaign was discussed increasingly.

Attempts to elect anti-Roosevelt delegates to the Philadelphia convention were broached in Massachusets and Maryland. Unless the convention turns its back on the New Deal, President Jouett Shouse of the American Liberty League estimated almost 2,000,000 democrats of a mind with Alfred E. Smith would go republican.

6 More Convicts Make Escape From Frankfort Prison

Ten Prisoners Have Fled From Reformatory In Last Two Days

BULLETIN

Frankford, Ky., Feb. 8—(AP)—Warden Elmer Deatherage announced tonight that James Morris and three other convicts who escaped with him yesterday from the state reformatory here have been recaptured and are being held at Beattyville. Deatherage said the fugitives would be returned in the morning. Deatherage said he had no details of the capture other than the information from Judge Sam Hurst, at Beattyville, the men had been taken into custody.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Six convicts escaped from the Frankfort reformatory today, close upon the heels of the four who drove off in a taxican yesterday and the killing of another convict by a fellow prisoner.

While the four who got away yesterday were being sougth in the hills of eastern Kentucky reports reached here that the six who got away today had been seen near Monterey in Owen county and state police rushed to surround them.

One report received at the prison said a laprobe believed to be one missing from the automobile which the convicts stole had been found in the woods near Monterey and that nearly 100 farmers had joined police and guards in searching for the men.

The guards at the prison were augmented by state police upon orders of Gov. A. B. Chandler, who, with Attorney General B. M. Vincent started an investigation. Guards and employes were questioned during the afternoon by the attorney general under orders from the governor to "make a thorough investigation and pull no punches."

Vincent whose inquiry was behind closed doors said it had established that Jess Leasure drove the truck in which the six rolled through an open gate from the prison chair factory.

The six were named by John Yerkes, chief aid to Warden Elmer C. Deatherage, as Leasure, 26, serving a life term under the hibitual criminal law; his brother, Logan Leasure, 21, serving four years for house breaking; Vernice Griffin, 26, sentenced to life for murder; Chesetr Campbell, 23, serving life or murder, and Lawrence Taylor, 21, serving two terms, life and five years for robbery from Kenton county, and Oscar Pearson, 28, serving life for murder in Jefferson county.

OPERA HOUSE BURNS

Turin, Italy, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The Reggio opera house, built in 1750, was destroyed tonight by fire from which two women and four children were rescued.

Several firemen were slightly injured.

CHARLES CURTIS DIES SUDDENLY IN WASHINGTON

Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Charles Curtis, former vice president, who left an Indian tepee to scale the heights of American public office, died unexpectedly of a heart attack today at the age of 76.

For forty years he had been in the thick of Republican political combat, and, despite his age, death came just as he was planning a return to the arena as champion of his old friend and fellow Kansan, Governor Alf M Landon, for the presidency.

His passing shocked the capital. Expressions of regret from those now high in the government quickly attested a popularity which took no account of the party lines, by which his own political career was rigidly concerned. President Roosevelt said he was "deeply distressed."

Senator Capper, also of Kansas, one of the first to call at the home which Curtis shared with his sister Mrs. Dolly Gann, announced the funeral would take place Tuesday at, Topeka. The body, he said, would leave Washington tomorrow night.

For several days Curtis had been suffering from a cold. This morning he seemed much improved, and, encouraged, Mrs. Gann went shopping. Sometime afterward, Curtis suffered a heart attack. A frightened maid phoned Mrs. Gann to return at once and called Dr. George E. Calver, congressional physician.

Both rushed to the shrubbery-surrounded house in Cleveland park, but the former vice president was dead before either arrived. Dr. Calver returned to the capital, called newspapermen and handed them a brief statement:

"The Hinorable Charles Curtis, former vice president of the United States of America, died of a heart attack at 10:25 this date."

Meanwhile in the living room of the home, Mrs. Gann walked back and forth until mimediate members of the family had been notified. Repeatedly she expressed regret that she had been unable to reach the home a few minutes earlier.

"He died easily," she said. "I'm glad he didn't suffer."

Then she retired to her room weeping.

Illinois Ready For Hot, Heavy Primary Campaign

Gov. Henry Horner Shells Mayor Kelly With Charges

Chicago, Feb. 8—(AP)—Illinois settled back tonight for a hot-and-heavy primary campaign after Gov. Henry Horner shelled Mayor Edward J. Kelly with charges of "bossism."

It was the first major offensive of intra-party war between the Democratic governor and the chief of the powerful Chicago Democratic organization.

Dropped by the mayor, who later won the state central committee to his side, Gov. Horner called Mayor Kelly a "self-appointed boss" a "self-created boss" a "so-called boss" and added that the mayor was also "a dictator." The governor topped off his denunciation by asserting that the mayor was determined to "rule or ruin."

The Horner broadside was fired as he opened Chicago campaign headquarters in "enemy territory."

"When I took office, I promised to have no bosses except the people" said the governor's opening cannonade.

"I have remained true to that promise. This had alienated self-appointed boss Kelly, who has arbitrarily assumed to decree my political ruin.

"I am ready and willing to accept his challenge. Why is this self-created boss against me? Is it because I could not be controlled?"

Nominating petitions, while the verbal gunplay roared in Chicago, were filed in Springfield, state capital, for both Gov. Horner and Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, the Chicago health officer prescribed by the Kelly forces to replace Gov. Horner.

CHOOSE CANDIDATE

DeKalb, Ill., Feb. 8—(AP)—The six chairmen of the county central committees of the Twelfth Congressional District today named Dr. D. O. Thompson of Sycamore, as their choice for the Democratic nomination for congressman from this district, comprising DeKalb, Winnebago, Boone, Gruny, LaSalle and Kendall counties.

Two years ago Dr. Thompson was defeated for the nomination by C. H. Smith of Ottawa.

LEAVES SANITARIUM

Glendale, Calif., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Dr Francis E. Townsend checked out of a sanitarium here today after resting several days to overcome a cold.

He went directly to a meeting in Los Angeles to explain his old age revolving pension plan.

New Cold Wave and Snow Ties Up Traffic on Many Highways and Railroads

Chicago, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A new cold wave rode the wings of an old fashioned prairie blizzard which swept eastward through the nation tonight, virtually halting automobile traffic on open roads and tying up railroad service in many states.

Temperatures began to plummet as the fury of the storm left the middle west behind and began its threatened invasion of the east.

With huge drifts across its right of way, the Milwaukee road reported here tonight it had cancelled service on its Omaha, Neb., route and on the Superior division through Milwaukee and Green Bay, Wis. The North Western road reported its trains were not moving north of Milwaukee.

What trains continued to operate in the snowbound area were reported running from 50 minutes to four hours late.

Iowa was almost isolated by its worst blizzard of the year tonight, with highway traffic at a standstill and only a few trains fighting their way through the white barrier. Winds were winning the fight that snowplows made in an attempt to clear the roads.

Added to the discomforts of the storm was an acute shortage of coal, which was making its effect felt in Illinois.

In Minnesota highway officials expressed fear roads would be blocked for several days by a 40-mile an hour gale that brought the storm in.

Many homes and business establishments in Gering, Neb., were without heat for six hours today because of a break in a natural gas pipeline from Scottsbluff. Only one restaurant remained open in the chilled city.

Indicative of the plight of many small communities in the snow-covered area was the situation at Livingston, Wis., where 600 residents faced a coal and water famine. Livingston has been without train service since Monday, and there have been only two mail deliveries in a week.

The pony express came back today in South Dakota. At Aberdeen it was reported horses were being used to make deliveries in the vicinity of Turton, S. D.

As the midwest fought suffering and death in its snow, eastern America felt the rigors of extreme cold.

Once again an ice barrier surrounded Nantucket Island off the coast of Massachusetts, locking the island's 3,000 inhabitants in its cold grip.

Families were similarly icebound on Tangier and other Chesapeake Bay Islands, and Governor Perry of Virginia announced tonight after a telephone conversation with Admiral Cary T. Grayson that the American Red Cross would immediately take the necessary steps to relieve them. Admiral Grayson is chairman of the Red Cross.

As highway engineers fought to reopen roads in Illinois the mercury took another dive, dropping 41 degrees since 3 p. m. at Rockford, where it was 11 below zero tonight. Sterling, Ill., reported a drop of 20 degrees in an hour, with all roads in the district blocked by snow. At Quincy, Ill., tonight it was 8 below.

The mild weather states of North Carolina and Kentucky were not escaping the effects of winter's protracted siege. From Paducah, Ky., it was reported 11 men were marooned in a boat caught in the ice jammed Ohio river above Elizabethtown, Ill.

At Lincoln, Neb., the state highway department reported that 24 hours of labor opened only one of hundreds of snow blocked roads. U. S. No. 6 between Lincoln and Hastings was the only road known to be open.

High winds, in many states, added to the difficulty of clearing the snow.

Old Age Pension Blanks Available Here This Week

Forms To Be In Hands Of County Judge Monday Says Andrews

Application blanks for old age assistance will be in the hands of county judges Monday, James H. Andrews, in charge of the social security program for the department of public welfare, announces.

The county judges have been notified to appoint members of county welfare boards within ten days to comply with the act. The boards will handle the applications, investigate to ascertain whether applicants are entitled to aid and how much, and other matters which will be necessary. They will employ a county superintendent and other needed help.

David H. McClugage, assistant to Mr. Andrews, said he expects the first pensions will be paid in about six weeks, although it may be possible to issue checks sooner. Aged persons now on relief rolls probably will be the first to receive aid since complete data on them is available from relief rolls.

About 50 persons will be needed by the department of public welfare to handle its part of the social security program but few of them will be placed on payrolls immediately, Mr. McClugage said.

He called attention to the fact applications must be secured from county departments and none will be issued by the state to individuals. The applications are short and simple but data to be tabulated in investigations is quite comprehensive. Forms which contain features which have been successful in other states have been incorporated in the Illinois blanks.

The county boards will be composed of three members, no more than two of whom may be from a single political party. The boards have ten days after they are appointed to select a county superintendent and other assistants. The state must approve names of all county staff members as to number and salary.

How much assistance each accepted aged person is to receive will depend on incomes. The state must carry the entire cost of the pensions until such time as congress makes an appropriation for pensions. Under the law the state can pay only $15 monthly as a maximum to each pensioner but if federal funds are available the maximum may be boosted to $30 a month.

Four Of 10 Escaped Convicts Captured Near Beattyville

Prisoners Are Caught By Sheriff At Home Of Farmer

Beattyville, Ky., Feb. 8—(AP)—Four of the ten convicts who escaped from Frankfort state reformatory in two days were captured without violence at a farm house near here late today by Lee county officers.

Sheriff Charles Blount led the party of four officers who surrounded the farm home of Dave Coomer, father of one of the fugitives, Henry Coomer. The others are James C. Morris, Clarence Crawford, and Exter Anderson. They were held in the county jail at Beattyville tonight.

The four captured escaped early yesterday by threatening and bluffing their way past prison guards.

Six others who escaped in a prison truck today were still at large tonight, and were objectives of an intensive hunt in the vicinity of Carrollton, after an automobile believed to be carrying them was fired upon by Owen county officers near Owenton.

Sheriff Blount said he recovered a rifle and shot-gun from the convicts. No pistols were found.

All Neutrality Legislation Has Been Abandoned

Congressional Leaders Are Attempting To Adjourn Session May 1

By The Associated Press

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Congressional leaders abandoned their campaign for immediate enactment of permanent neutrality legislation today in an attempt to bring adjournment of congress by May 1.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev) of the Senate foreign relations committee disclosed the new strategy. He forecast the committee would report promptly a resolution to extend for one year the temporary ban on shipment of arms and munitions to belligerents. That will expire February 29.

He added there will be "such amendments in the form of additional legislation as will not justify unlimited debate."

The Nevada Senator said he was speaking "personally," but he is recognized as the chief administration spokesman on the subject of neutrality, and introduced the bill for a permanent program approved by President Roosevelt and the state department.

LIEBERMAN ELECTED

CANDIDATES IN GRAND RUSH TO FILE PETITIONS

Otis F. Glenn And Wayland Brooks In List

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8—(AP)—Attacks upon rival political camps today marked the opening rush of Democratic and Republican candidates to qualify for places on the April 14 primary ballots.

Hundreds of nomination petitions, bearing hundreds of thousands of signatures, were filed with the Secretary of State.

Former Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom of Aledo, one of the Republicans to file for the governorship, charged that "bi-partisan, self-appointed bosses" had sold out the party in Cook county to the Democrats last year.

Governor Horner at Chicago called Mayor Edward J. Kelly a "self-appointed boss" who has arbitrarily assumed to decree my political ruin."

The governor's petition for a second term nomination were filed with the Secretary of State by Mrs. Blanche Fritz of Bridgeport, head of his women's organization.

Also placed on file were group petitions in behalf of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen of Chicago, Senator James Hamilton Lewis and other candidates endorsed by the Kelly-Nash-Campbell-Stelle regular Democratic organization.

Dr. Bundesen is campaigning for governor with Kelly's support.

Others who filed petitions included: Former Senator Otis F. Glenn of Murphysboro, for Republican senator. C. Wayland Brooks of Chicago for Republican governor.

H. Wallace Caldwell of Oak Park for Republican governor.

Carlstrom was the second downstate GOP candidate to denounce the backers of Brooks as having participated in "bi-partisan deals" with Democratic leaders. Walter M. Provine of Taylorville made similar charges earlier in the week.

None of the downstaters would comment, but it was understood there was still a possibility that some of the nine announced Republican candidates for governor might withdraw to reduce the field.

Second Guard Is Discharged From Joliet Prison

Warden Denies Dismissal Had Anything To Do With Loeb Slaying

Joliet, Feb. 8—(AP)—A second guard was discharged today at the penitentiary where Richard Loeb, crime partner of Nathan Leopold, was slashed to death by another convict's razor.

Warden Joseph Ragen denied the dismissal had anything to do with the Loeb killing or with the more recent escape of a convict, but he announced he intended to check the records of all the 325 prison guards in tightening up discipline.

Inefficiency and failure to carry out orders were the reasons Ragen assigned for dismissing the guard, Charles Goodwin, a veteran of seven years service.

Guard Homer Talley was discharged a few days ago following escape and recapture of convict John Floss. Floss alleged he and the guard had gone to Chicago together for a spree.

While the warden was disclosing his plans to improve prison discipline, A. L. Bowen, state welfare department head, announced improvements that will permit a better check on movements in and out of the twin penitentiaries here.

An electric eye similar to that used in the new prison at Stateville will be installed in the guardhouse of the old prison at Joliet to detect hidden metal carried by prison visitors.

This apparatus, along with a two-way radio outfit for the wall guards on the old prison, will be paid for from a $500,000 appropriation by the legislature. Prison quarters and equipment will be bettered in a number of ways with the rest of the money.

MONEY IN CIRCULATION

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Money in circulation on January 31 was figured today at $5,737,352,474, equivalent to $44.96 for every man, woman, and child in the United States.

This represented a sharp decrease from the previous month when, owing to the demand for holiday cash, circulation reached $5,881,525,846, or $46.11 per capita.

Total stocks of money amounted to $16,625,751,596. This was a decrease from the previous month, for the first time in a year, owing to a depletion of federal reserve notes.

BURNED TO DEATH

Little Fork, Minn., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Three persons burned to death early today when their farm home caught fire.

Two others were badly burned but were expected to recover. The victims were Andrew Louden, 58, his son, Wendell, 12, and his father-in-law, E. G. Chambers.

Mrs. Louden and another son were others in the house who were burned.

ROOSEVELT AND ADVISORS SHAPE NEW TAX BILL

Conference Is Held Behind Closed Doors

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and his fiscal advisors today canvassed the back ground for an administration tax bill at a closed-door conference which coincided with the reported collapse of one wing of the congressional inflation drive.

After a poll of the house, representative Boland, the democratic whip, reported that only 94 of the 317 house democrats had signified themselves definitely in favor of the $3,000,000,000 Frazier-Lemke bill, designed to refinance farm debt with new currency. Both Boland and Speaker Byrns asserted the measure would be "slaughtered" if it came to a vote.

A late afternoon White House conference, attended by Secretary Morgenthau and Daniel Bell, the acting budget director, revived previous reports that the Roosevelt tax plan might be sent to the Capitol next week.

Neither the treasury chief nor Bell would comment. Previous reports, however, had described the immediate tax plan as aimed primarily at the raising of between $450,000,000 and $500,000,000 to finance the proposed farm program, replacing the invalidated AAA.

Two other developments strengthened these indications:

1—In usually reliable congressional quarters the president was reported to be awaiting income tax returns before deciding finally whether to propose any new taxes to finance such outlays as the bonus payments.

2—Financial experts elsewhere predicted substantial increases in corporation and individual income tax returns on the basis of 1935 business improvement.

Late in the day Representative Boland handed Speaker Byrns the result of his poll. Of the 317 hour democrats, he said, 178 will vote against the Frazier-Lemke measure, 94 will vote for it and 45 are doubtiful.

Greatest Dollar Day For Jacksonville to Be Observed Tuesday

Jacksonville residents and those from a wide area who come here to trade with the merchants know exactly what is meant when Dollar Day is announced. They know that they will find in local stores an abundance of low-priced merchandise, bargains of every description, to fit every need and desire. It is with full understanding of the spirit in which the buying public receive this news that merchants today make announcement of Dollar Day, Tuesday, Feb. 11.

Owing to the unusual cold weather, sales have been slow, and merchants have on hand large stocks of goods they must unload before filling their shelves with new spring merchandise. They are giving the shoppers a double advantage in advertising at this time a large assortment of articles which would have been sold at higher prices under normal conditions. The fact that this Dollar Day sale is being held at this time should bring the shoppers to this city in unprecedented crowds.

The bargains cover a wide range of articles. Every need of the individual and the home has been anticipated. There are supplies as well for the farm at unusually low prices, things that will be needed as spring activities get under way. There are food bargains, clothing bargains, furniture and items for the home, and bargains that will attract people of every taste and desire.

As has been said, the buying public has found Dollar Day in Jacksonville to be a real source of shopping satisfaction. This event Tuesday will be no exception to the rule. Shoppers will come into the business district assured in their own minds that they are going to get the worth of every cent they spend.

In order that consumers may know in advance what bargains they can secure and where they are to be found, it is advised that the advertisements placed by merchants in this paper be carefully read. Every item is meant for somebody, and every reader will surely find something especially desired. Remember, it is Tuesday, Feb. 11, and it's DOLLAR DAY especially for YOU. Jacksonville merchants consider your needs and your pocketbook. Come and prove it.

SENATOR CLAIMS AAA SUBSTITUTE NOT FARM BILL

Is Proposal To Carry Out Wallace And Tugwell Ideas

By D. Harold Oliver
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Administration leaders concentrated all their energies today toward pushing the soil conservation subsidy bill through congress next week as the spearhead of a drive toward an adjournment by May 1.

In the face of an amendment rush and an assertion by Senator King (D-Utah), that the AAA replacement measure was not a farm bill but a proposal to "carry out the ideas of Tugwell and Wallace," Chairman Smith (D-SC) of the agricultural committee said he had plenty of votes to block an opposition recommittal move.

Smith added that the legislation would be sent to the house by Wednesday at the latest. House farm leaders cleared the way for consideration by Thursday, apparently regardless of whether the senate acts before that.

President Roosevelt again went over the question of taxes to finance the new farm program, this time with Secretary Morgenthau and Daniel W. Bell, acting budget director.

Privately, some leaders said a definite adjournment date hinged largely on whether the supreme court throws out any more new deal acts. Such occurrences to date have invariably led to legislative substitutes.

The Smith-Jones bill to authorize federal subsidies to farmers directly or through states which set up soil-improvement programs conforming to basic principles outlined by the secretary of agriculture is one substitute. Railroad pension and farm mortgage moratorium laws enacted last summer were others.

Hitting the soil conservation proposal today, Senator King added in an interview:

"It would be better to give a subsidy to the farmers based upon production. If we want to help the farmers we should make a direct appropriation and have it distributed where it is needed.

"But to put $50,000,000 in the hands of the AAA to be spent where it pleases will disappoint the farmers, will prove unsatisfactory, and will increase prices to the consumer. It is discriminatory legislation."

Central Illinois Being Faced With Fuel Shortage

Supplies Of Coal At All Mines Diminishing As Temperature Falls

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—A sudden drop in the temperature—which sent the mercury down 20 degrees in less than two hours—brought fresh alarm of an acute coal shortage in central Illinois.

Supplies of coal at all mines were rapidly diminishing. Orders for fuel poured into mine company offices as frantic efforts were made to replenish coal bins. Trucks waited hours in line to get even a small portion of fuel.

While there was no immediate shortage in Springfield, mine officials feared that "hysteria buying" might cause actual suffering in neighboring cities and villages, which depend largely on the output here.

Four mines were hoisting coal today and four shafts at Taylorville were reported operating. With one exception the mines all employ members of the United Mine Workers of America.

Bundesen Party Is Marooned At Home Of Farmer

Forty Persons Are Caught In Blizzard Near DeKalb, Ill.

Bulletin

De Kalb, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Two snowplows came to the rescue tonight of 40 persons, including Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, who is seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and a party of political colleagues marooned in the James Mattison farmhouse, three miles north of here, for more than three hours.

Dr. Bundesen and seven other Democratic candidates were brought to De Kalb in two taxi cabs which followed the snowplows into the city. The taxis and snowplows were sent to the farmhouse by DeKalb friends of the marooned party. It required more than an hour for the snowplows to break a path through the eight and ten feet drifts.

De Kalb, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Forty persons, including Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, democrat candidate for governor, and a party of fellow campaigners, were marooned tonight in the farmhouse of James Mattison three miles north of here.

Members of the party reported by telephone that today's blizzard, sweeping deep drifts over the roads, had made them impassable.

Winding up a preliminary campaign tour of the state, the Bundesen party was on its way from De Kalb to Sycamore when their cars gave up in the storm. They had planned to be in Chicago tomorrow.

A number of those who sought refuge in the farmhouse were suffering from frozen ears and nipped feet.

With Dr. Bundesen, who is president of the Chicago Board of Health, were State Treasurer John Stelle, a candidate for lieutenant governor on the Bundesen ticket; Attorney General Otto Kerner; John C. Martin, former head of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission and candidate for state treasurer, and Edwin V. Champion, Peoria state's attorney, candidate for congressman-at-large.

Others snowbound at the Mattison home included; the Rev. J. W. Gillespie, pastor of the First Baptist church at Sycamore, and his wife; Leonard Condon, prominent Rockford attorney; Lewis Long, Sandwich, Ill., another candidate for congressman-at-large; Mrs. Frank Novotny, Chicago, widow of the late mayor of suburban Berwyn, and Harry Smith, one of Dr. Bundesen's secretaries.

Count Covadonga Is Recovering

Havana, Feb. 8—(AP)—The 28-year-old Count of Covadonga, strengthened by injections of the blood of commoners, appeared tonight to be recovering from a near-fatal attack of hemophilia.

Physicians reported that the count, who renounced his rights to the Spanish throne to wed a Cuban commoner, was resting easily after a good sleep. Physicians expressed the opinion late today that he was passing the crisis satisfactorily.

Blood injections were continued during the day. These injections and a transfusion from two Cuban women and a Cuban man, they said, saved the life of the former crown prince.

LEPROSY VICTIM

Milwaukee, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Dr. Harry Sargeant, superintendent of the County General Hospital, said today that a final diagnosis revealed Mrs. Maggie Perry, 54, is the victim of leprosy. It was the first leprosy case reported here in 14 years.

BORAH INVITES HIS OPPONENTS OUT INTO OPEN

Senator Asks Them To Declare Their Preference

By Edward J. Duffy
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Senator Borah of Idaho tonight challenged forces against him for the presidential nomination to "come into the open" and declare their preference.

Prompted by objections to him by the former republican chairman, Simeon Fess of Ohio, the candidate attacked plans of the Ohio party organization to seek a "favorite son" convention delegation in the Buckeye state primaries May 12 as "sham and deception."

"A scheme, or system, which deprives the people of a fair chance to have part in selecting the candidate for president," his statement said, "is a travesty upon popular government, and all platform declarations which may be written will not erase that thought from the minds of the voters on November first."

Borah's militance contributed to the ever-developing political pattern.

On the democratic side, developments dealt mainly with policies of campaign-issue importance. Modification rather than aggressive advancement of the New Deal seemed the trend.

On the republican side, the Borah declaration of candidacy still left doubts among some as to whether he was primarily bent on winning it, or on influencing the platform. His potential rivals bided their time, arousing speculation over how and where the expected attempt to head him off would be made.

On both sides, the possibility of some leaders putting party regularity second in the campaign was discussed increasingly.

Attempts to elect anti-Roosevelt delegates to the Philadelphia convention were broached in Massachusets and Maryland. Unless the convention turns its back on the New Deal, President Jouett Shouse of the American Liberty League estimated almost 2,000,000 democrats of a mind with Alfred E. Smith would go republican.

6 More Convicts Make Escape From Frankfort Prison

Ten Prisoners Have Fled From Reformatory In Last Two Days

BULLETIN

Frankford, Ky., Feb. 8—(AP)—Warden Elmer Deatherage announced tonight that James Morris and three other convicts who escaped with him yesterday from the state reformatory here have been recaptured and are being held at Beattyville. Deatherage said the fugitives would be returned in the morning. Deatherage said he had no details of the capture other than the information from Judge Sam Hurst, at Beattyville, the men had been taken into custody.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 8—(AP)—Six convicts escaped from the Frankfort reformatory today, close upon the heels of the four who drove off in a taxicab yesterday and the killing of another convict by a fellow prisoner.

While the four who got away yesterday were being sought in the hills of eastern Kentucky reports reached here that the six who got away today had been seen near Monterey in Owen county and state police rushed to surround them.

One report received at the prison said a lanrobe believed to be one missing from the automobile which the convicts stole had been found in the woods near Monterey and that nearly 100 farmers had joined police and guards in searching for the men.

The guards at the prison were augmented by state police upon orders of Gov. A. B. Chandler, who, with Attorney General B. M. Vincent started an investigation. Guards and employes were questioned during the afternoon by the attorney general under orders from the governor to "make a thorough investigation and pull no punches."

Vincent whose inquiry was behind closed doors said it had established that Jess Leasure drove the truck in which the six rolled through an open gate from the prison chair factory.

The six were named by John Yerkes, chief aid to Warden Elmer C. Deatherage, as Leasure, 26, serving a life term under the hibitual criminal law; his brother, Logan Leasure, 21, serving four years for house breaking; Vernice Griffin, 26, sentenced to life for murder; Chesetr Campbell, 23, serving life or murder, and Lawrence Taylor, 21 serving two terms, life and five years for robbery from Kenton county, and Oscar Pearson, 28, serving life for murder in Jefferson county.

OPERA HOUSE BURNS

Turin, Italy, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The Reggio opera house, built in 1750, was destroyed tonight by fire from which two women and four children were rescued.

Several firemen were slightly injured.

Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Charles Curtis, former vice president, who left an Indian tepee to scale the heights of American public office, died unexpectedly of a heart attack today at the age of 76.

For forty years he had been in the thick of Republican political combat, and, despite his age, death came just as he was planning a return to the arena as champion of his old friend and fellow Kansan, Governor Alf M Landon, for the presidency.

His passing shocked the capital. Expressions of regret from those now high in the government quickly attested a popularity which took no account of the party lines, by which his own political career was rigidly concerned. President Roosevelt said he was "deeply distressed."

Senator Capper, also of Kansas, one of the first to call at the home which Curtis shared with his sister Mrs. Dolly Gann, announced the funeral would take place Tuesday at Topeka. The body, he said, would leave Washington tomorrow night.

For several days Curtis had been suffering from a cold. This morning he seemed much improved, and, encouraged, Mrs. Gann went shopping. Sometime afterward, Curtis suffered a heart attack. A frightened maid phoned Mrs. Gann to return at once and called Dr. George E. Calver, congressional physician.

Both rushed to the shrubbery-surrounded house in Cleveland park, but the former vice president was dead before either arrived. Dr. Calver returned to the capital, called newspapermen and handed them a brief statement:

"The Hinorable Charles Curtis, former vice president of the United States of America, died of a heart attack at 10:25 this date."

Meanwhile in the living room of the home, Mrs. Gann walked back and forth until mimediave members of the family had been notified. Repeatedly she expressed regret that she had been unable to reach the home a few minutes earlier.

"He died easily," she said. "I'm glad he didn't suffer."

Then she retired to her room weeping.

Illinois Ready For Hot, Heavy Primary Campaign

Gov. Henry Horner Shells Mayor Kelly With Charges

Chicago, Feb. 8—(AP)—Illinois settled back tonight for a hot-and-heavy primary campaign after Gov. Henry Horner shelled Mayor Edward J. Kelly with charges of "bossism."

It was the first major offensive of intra-party war between the Democratic governor and the chief of the powerful Chicago Democratic organization.

Dropped by the mayor, who later won the state central committee to his side, Gov. Horner called Mayor Kelly a "self-appointed boss" a "self-created boss" a "so-called boss" and added that the mayor was also "a dictator." The governor topped off his denunciation by asserting that the mayor was determined to "rule or ruin."

The Horner broadside was fired as he opened Chicago campaign headquarters in "enemy territory."

"When I took office, I promised to have no bosses except the people" said the governor's opening cannonade.

"I have remained true to that promise. This had alienated self-appointed boss Kelly, who has arbitrarily assumed to decree my political ruin.

"I am ready and willing to accept his challenge. Why is this self-created boss against me? Is it because I could not be controlled?"

Nominating petitions, while the verbal gunplay roared in Chicago, were filed in Springfield, state capital, for both Gov. Horner and Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, the Chicago health officer prescribed by the Kelly forces to replace Gov. Horner.

CHOOSE CANDIDATE

DeKalb, Ill., Feb. 8—(AP)—The six chairmen of the county central committees of the Twelfth Congressional District today named Dr. D. O. Thompson of Sycamore, as their choice for the Democratic nomination for congressman from this district, comprising DeKalb, Winnebago, Boone, Gruny, LaSalle and Kendall counties.

Two years ago Dr. Thompson was defeated for the nomination by C. H. Smith of Ottawa.

LEAVES SANITARIUM

Glendale, Calif., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend checked out of a sanitarium here today after resting several days to overcome a cold.

He went directly to a meeting in Los Angeles to explain his old age revolving pension plan.

New Cold Wave and Snow Ties Up Traffic on Many Highways and Railroads

Chicago, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A new cold wave rode the wings of an old fashioned prairie blizzard which swept eastward through the nation tonight, virtually halting automobile traffic on open roads and tying up railroad service in many states.

Temperatures began to plummet as the fury of the storm left the middle west behind and began its threatened invasion of the east.

With Luge drifts across its right of way, the Milwaukee road reported here tonight it had cancelled service on its Omaha, Neb., route and on the Superior division through Milwaukee and Green Bay, Wis. The North Western road reported its trains were not moving north of Milwaukee.

What trains continued to operate in the snowbound area were reported running from 50 minutes to four hours late.

Iowa was almost isolated by its worst blizzard of the year tonight, with highway traffic at a standstill and only a few trains fighting their way through the white barrier. Winds were winning the fight that snowplows made in an attempt to clear the roads.

Added to the discomforts of the storm was an acute shortage of coal, which was making its effect felt in Illinois.

In Minnesota highway officials expressed fear roads would be blocked for several days by a 40-mile an hour gale that brought the storm in.

Many homes and business establishments in Gering, Neb., were without heat for six hours today because of a break in a natural gas pipeline from Scottsbluff. Only one restaurant remained open in the chilled city.

Indicative of the plight of many small communities in the snow-covered area was the situation at Livingston, Wis., where 600 residents faced a coal and water famine. Livingston has been without train service since Monday, and there have been only two mail deliveries in a week.

The pony express came back today in South Dakota. At Aberdeen it was reported horses were being used to make deliveries in the vicinity of Turton, S. D.

As the midwest fought suffering and death in its snow, eastern America felt the rigors of extreme cold.

Once again an ice barrier surrounded Nantucket Island off the coast of Massachusetts, locking the island's 3,000 inhabitants in its cold grip.

Families were similarly icebound on Tangier and other Chesapeake Bay Islands, and Governor Perry of Virginia announced tonight after a telephone conversation with Admiral Cary T. Grayson that the American Red Cross would immediately take the necessary steps to relieve them. Admiral Grayson is chairman of the Red Cross.

As highway engineers fought to reopen roads in Illinois the mercury took another dive, dropping 41 degrees since 3 p. m. at Rockford, where it was 11 below zero tonight. Sterling, Ill., reported a drop of 20 degrees in an hour, with all roads in the district blocked by snow. At Quincy, Ill., tonight it was 8 below.

The mild weather states of North Carolina and Kentucky were not escaping the effects of winter's protracted siege. From Paducah, Ky., it was reported 11 men were marooned in a boat caught in the ice jammed Ohio river above Elizabethtown, Ill.

At Lincoln, Neb., the state highway department reported that 24 hours of labor opened only one of hundreds of snow blocked roads. U. S. No. 6 between Lincoln and Hastings was the only road known to be open.

High winds, in many states, added to the difficulty of clearing the snow.

Old Age Pension Blanks Available Here This Week

Forms To Be In Hands Of County Judge Monday Says Andrews

Application blanks for old age assistance will be in the hands of county judges Monday, James H. Andrews, in charge of the social security program for the department of public welfare, announces.

The county judges have been notified to appoint members of county welfare boards within ten days to comply with the act. The boards will handle the applications, investigate to ascertain whether applicants are entitled to aid and how much, and other matters which will be necessary. They will employ a county superintendent and other needed help.

David H. McClugage, assistant to Mr. Andrews, said he expects the first pensions will be paid in about six weeks, although it may be possible to issue checks sooner. Aged persons now on relief rolls probably will be the first to receive aid since complete data on them is available from relief rolls.

About 50 persons will be needed by the department of public welfare to handle its part of the social security program but few of them will be placed on payrolls immediately, Mr. McClugage said.

He called attention to the fact applications must be secured from county departments and none will be issued by the state to individuals. The applications are short and simple but data to be tabulated in investigations is quite comprehensive. Forms which contain features which have been successful in other states have been incorporated in the Illinois blanks.

The county boards will be composed of three members, no more than two of whom may be from a single political party. The boards have ten days after they are appointed to select a county superintendent and other assistants. The state must approve names of all county staff members as to number and salary.

How much assistance each accepted aged person is to receive will depend on incomes. The state must carry the entire cost of the pensions until such time as congress makes an appropriation for pensions. Under the law the state can pay only $15 monthly as a maximum to each pensioner but if federal funds are available the maximum may be boosted to $30 a month.

Four Of 10 Escaped Convicts Captured Near Beattyville

Prisoners Are Caught By Sheriff At Home Of Farmer

Beattyville, Ky., Feb. 8—(AP)—Four of the ten convicts who escaped from Frankfort state reformatory in two days were captured without violence at a farm house near here late today by Lee county officers.

Sheriff Charles Blount led the party of four officers who surrounded the farm home of Dave Coomer, father of one of the fugitives, Henry Coomer. The others are James C. Morris, Clarence Crawford, and Exter Anderson. They were held in the county jail at Beattyville tonight.

The four captured escaped early yesterday by threatening and bluffing their way past prison guards.

Six others who escaped in a prison truck today were still at large tonight, and were objectives of an intensive hunt in the vicinity of Carrollton, after an automobile believed to be carrying them was fired upon by Owen county officers near Owenton.

Sheriff Blount said he recovered a rifle and shot-gun from the convicts. No pistols were found.

All Neutrality Legislation Has Been Abandoned

Congressional Leaders Are Attempting To Adjourn Session May 1

By Nathan Robertson
Copyright, 1936,
By The Associated Press

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Congressional leaders abandoned their campaign for immediate enactment of permanent neutrality legislation today in an attempt to bring adjournment of congress by May 1.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev) of the Senate foreign relations committee disclosed the new strategy. He forecast the committee would report promptly a resolution to extend for one year the temporary ban on shipment of arms and munitions to belligerents. That will expire February 29.

He added there will be "such amendments in the form of additional legislation as will not justify unlimited debate."

The Nevada Senator said he was speaking "personally," but he is recognized as the chief administration spokesman on the subject of neutrality, and introduced the bill for a permanent program approved by President Roosevelt and the state department.

LIEBERMAN ELECTED

CANDIDATES IN GRAND RUSH TO FILE PETITIONS

Otis F. Glenn And Wayland Brooks In List

Springfield, Ill., Feb 8—(AP)—Attacks upon rival political camps today marked the opening rush of Democratic and Republican candidates to qualify for places on the April 14 primary ballots.

Hundreds of nomination petitions, bearing hundreds of thousands of signatures, were filed with the Secretary of State.

Former Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom of Aledo, one of the Republicans to file for the governorship, charged that "bi-partisan, self-appointed bosses" had sold out the party in Cook county to the Democrats last year.

Governor Horner at Chicago called Mayor Edward J. Kelly a "self-appointed boss" who has arbitrarily assumed to decree my political ruin."

The governor's petition for a second term nomination were filed with the Secretary of State by Mrs. Blanche Fritz of Bridgeport, head of his women's organization.

Also placed on file were group petitions in behalf of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen of Chicago, Senator James Hamilton Lewis and other candidates endorsed by the Kelly-Nash-Campbell-Stelle regular Democratic organization.

Dr. Bundesen is campaigning for governor with Kelly's support.

Others who filed petitions included:

Former Senator Otis F. Glenn of Murphysboro, for Republican senator.

C. Wayland Brooks of Chicago for Republican governor.

H. Wallace Caldwell of Oak Park for Republican governor.

Carlstrom was the second downstate GOP candidate to denounce the backers of Brooks as having participated in "bi-partisan deals" with Democratic leaders. Walter M. Provine of Taylorville made similar charges earlier in the week.

None of the downstaters would comment, but it was understood there was still a possibility that some of the nine announced Republican candidates for governor might withdraw to reduce the field.

Second Guard Is Discharged From Joliet Prison

Warden Denies Dismissal Had Anything To Do With Loeb Slaying

Joliet, Feb. 8—(AP)—A second guard was discharged today at the penitentiary where Richard Loeb, crime partner of Nathan Leopold, was slashed to death by another convict's razor.

Warden Joseph Ragen denied the dismissal had anything to do with the Loeb killing or with the more recent escape of a convict, but he announced he intended to check the records of all the 325 prison guards in tightening up discipline.

Inefficiency and failure to carry out orders were the reasons Ragen assigned for dismissing the guard, Charles Goodwin, a veteran of seven years service.

Guard Homer Talley was discharged a few days ago following escape and recapture of convict John Floss. Floss alleged he and the guard had gone to Chicago together for a spree.

While the warden was disclosing his plans to improve prison discipline, A. L. Bowen, state welfare department head, announced improvements that will permit a better check on movements in and out of the twin penitentiaries here.

An electric eye similar to that used in the new prison at Stateville will be installed in the guardhouse of the old prison at Joliet to detect hidden metal carried by prison visitors.

This apparatus, along with a two-way radio outfit for the wall guards on the old prison, will be paid for from a $500,000 appropriation by the legislature. Prison quarters and equipment will be bettered in a number of ways with the rest of the money.

MONEY IN CIRCULATION

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Money in circulation on January 31 was figured today at $5,737,352,474, equivalent to $44.96 for every man, woman, and child in the United States.

This represented a sharp decrease from the previous month when, owing to the demand for holiday cash, circulation reached $5,881,525,846, or $46.11 per capita.

Total stocks of money amounted to $16,625,751,596. This was a decrease from the previous month, for the first time in a year, owing to a depletion of federal reserve notes.

BURNED TO DEATH

Little Pork, Minn., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Three persons burned to death early today when their farm home caught fire.

Two others were badly burned but were expected to recover. The victims were Andrew Louden, 56, his son, Wendell, 12, and his father-in-law, E. G. Chambers.

Mrs. Louden and another son were others in the house who were burned.

Hon Chas. Curtis Dies

Hon. Charles Curtis, former vice president of the United States, died suddenly in Washington Saturday morning. Since his retirement from office in 1933, he had been practicing law in the national capital. Mr. Curtis was a staunch American patriot, believing in and living the ideals and principles on which the nation was founded.

He rounded out forty years of public service. They were years of faithfulness to duty, yet not spectacular or vainglorious years. Mr. Curtis served his state first in the House of Representatives from 1892 to 1907. He was then appointed to the Senate and remained in service there until his election as vice president.

He was a man of strong character and pronounced convictions; yet he never stepped from the inconspicuous place to which the vice presidential office sentences its occupants. He was the first native of Kansas to serve that state as senator, and brought to Washington the vitality and vigor of the great independent wheat belt of the nation.

With the return of a campaign season, Mr. Curtis was beginning to take an interest in politics, and was ready to take the field in support of the presidential candidacy of Governor Alf Landon of Kansas. He would have been a valuable asset in the campaign, and his death comes as a real loss of leadership to the Republican party and the nation.

No Reds Allowed

At a recent meeting the Springfield Board of Education denied to a communist organization the use of the high school for a Lincoln birthday meeting. Earl Browder, who took a prominent part in the communist Congress in Moscow, being the American representative, was to have been the speaker.

It is understood the theme of the meeting was to have been "Lincoln the Communist." That announcement brought a unanimous ban on the affair from the school board.

It was pointed out that the communists had in mind to use the meeting for propaganda, boasting that they held a meeting in a public building in Lincoln's home city on his birthday. It would have made good publicity.

But the plan has been very properly spiked. Communism has no place in the American scheme, and especially is it not wanted in connection with the public schools.

It Can Happen Here

"A nation may survive to correct its political mistakes. But if an unsound financial policy is coupled with this, the nation faces destruction." So spoke Gov. Alf M. Landon in his Kansas Day address. His remarks deserve most serious consideration of the citizenry at this time when a topheavy national budget seems to call for money inflation.

A look backward at Germany's experience with inflation will suffice to show what an unsound financial policy can do. Savings were swept away; wages lost their purchasing power; money was a mockery; suffering was everywhere; only the foreign visitors, who had real money to spend, fared fat in Germany.

Germany was a republic. Had she kept her finances sound, she might still be a republic. But today she is an autocracy, with power centered in one man and the people in servitude. The terrible suffering of her people during inflation brought desperation, and they flung themselves into the arms of a dictator, without restraint.

The United States has a debt of 30 billion dollars and is preparing to raise the amount andother five billions within the year. Where can the money be found to meet this burden? There is a growing temptation to start the printing presses, and the recent reaction to that movement should be viewed with alarm.

The huge gold reserve in the national treasury gives the impression that untold millions of paper money could safely be issued against it. It should be remembered, however, that even the gold in the treasury does not have a true value. It is already worth only 59 cents on the dollar. By a trick devaluation, the government added two billions to its value, billions that are not in the treasury and never were.

Hence when Governor Landon says that political mistakes coupled with unsound financial policies may lead to destruction, his statement is not to be lightly cast aside.

Swallowing Taxes

Of course we all have to swallow taxes, or have them rammed down our throats. But in these days we really swallow them with our food and drink. Every time your children drink a glass of milk, they swallow a tax, which appears to be continually getting larger.

President Thomas H. McInnerney of the National Dairy Products Corporation, says his company paid taxes in 1933 amounting to $3,840,000. In 1934 the taxes increased to $4,150,000, despite the fact that the firm's earnings decreased.

This means that children of the nation swallowed more taxes in 1934 than in 1933. Present indications are that a larger percentage of the price of a quart of milk will go to taxes this year and next.

It is fortunate for the kids that taxes are tasteless, and that they do not reduce the nourishment in the milk. But if the favorite food of children increases in price because of taxes, they will get less nourishment by being forced to drink less milk.

Need For Pioneer Spirit

Justice John Burke of the North Dakota supreme court struck a significant note recently when he told a midyear graduating class at the University of North Dakota that a fuller value of "the sacrifices of pioneers in creating modern institutions" could be realized if "pioneering" continued.

"Much has been given you and much is expected of you," the justice declared.

He emphasized the point most of us need to absorb these days—that our frontiers are still with us. Obviously, not the frontiers of new lands or new cities in the tempo of 50 years ago. But frontiers in terms of better social conditions, better schools, better adjustment to the economic forces of our complex times.

Here is plenty to tax the pioneering spirit of even the most dauntless. The challenge should not go unanswered.

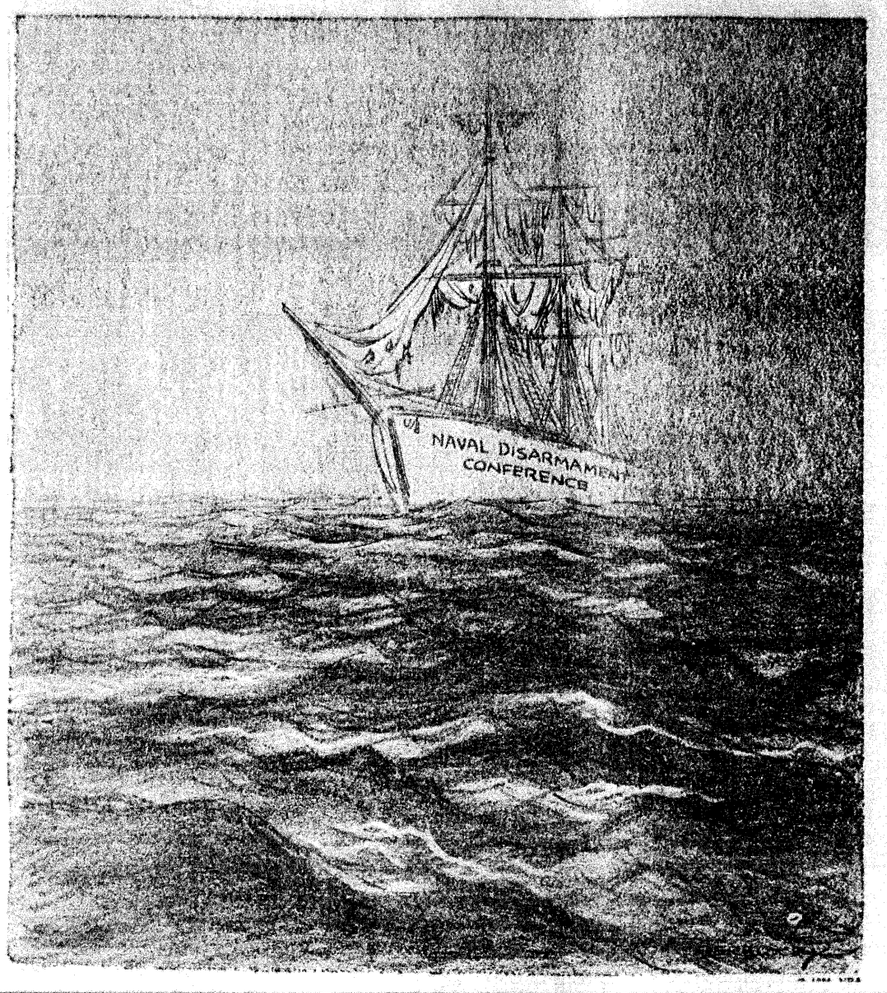
THE GHOST SHIP



Behind The Scenes In Washington

Now the New Deal's in the Thriller Field; Love, Murder, Ghosts—Oh, Gasps Aplenty!

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington—Love, murder, adventure, and ghost stories always used to be a bit out of the government's line.

But if you had happened to think about it, you could have been sure that the good old New Deal would start producing them sooner or later.

The beginning of it comes in a small way, of course, as such things do, and possibly in a manner which isn't even unconstitutional. At the moment the yarns are to be found only in prospectus material for the American Guide, a big WPA project for writers on relief, which will be a 3,000-page, five-volume encyclopedia of things in all parts of the country to see or be interested in.

Many of the stories are true, of course. Others are legends and some are a little of both. Thus, in a little tale called "Silver Moonlight," you read how the pioneer, James Snowden, made the mistake of settling at a beautiful lake called Fall Hole, near Crafton, Pa.

The Indian Chief Cornplanter warned him that he had better move, since the lake was haunted by the spirit of beautiful Incolala, who had been promised in marriage to Cocohuha. On the eve of the wedding a disappointed suitor took her canoeing on the lake and strangled her in the moonlight.

Each spring thereafter, in the bright moon when "love awakens in the hearts of maidens," Cornplanter said, "a strong young warrior is seized by invisible hands and dragged under the waters of the lake. So, Incolala's spirit has sought revenge."

Snowden built his cabin on the shore regardless of old Cornplanter's tale and, sure enough, according to WPA, they found his body floating on the lake that very next spring.

More Love and Tragedy

Then there's the legend of the widow's mite—how Chief Mannacaset fell in love with the young female captive ("but she found no place in her heart for the red man") and put her and her little daughter, Gwawa, in a hut under a tree, from under the shade of which she must not stray on pain of death, and how eventually the Maryland legislature gave her 171 acres around the tree in appreciation of her sufferings.

And the "Black Hand of Augusta"—a slave placed his hand on a stone column, the imprint still shows, and anyone who tries to remove the column dies. Tradition says four molesters have died.

In "Sold Up the River" you learn that Capt. John Smith was something of a slave trader and as to his rescue by Pocahontas—"all the world may love a love", but Smith and the girl were not lovers. She was much younger than he and in rescuing him was very likely actuated by her general friendliness toward the English colonists.

One can think of many government publications which are less fun than the American Guide is going to be.

Not Exactly Thrifty

Anybody who wanted to make the point probably could offer a strong case of extravagance against the supreme court.

The other day it gave back about $200,000,000 in AAA processing taxes which already had been paid by consumers. Every time it kills a New Deal act it seems to knock off a large investment in administration and enforcement.

And of the space the new court building and grounds cover, about 5 per cent seems to be occupied. (Six of the justices scorn their handsome office suites and work at home).

And then on the Monday when the whole nation was sure the court would rule on TVA it allowed about 500 persons of more or less importance to wait in vain for a couple of hours for that decision without a hint that it wasn't to come.

James M. Beck, the Liberty League's constitutional authority, whose time is doubtless worth $5,000 an hour—at times—was there. And Solicitor General Stanley Reed and many other government lawyers and no end of big fee lobbyists who might have been spending their time more profitably.

Your correspondent observed a magazine editor and a famous columnist from New York and a newspaper editor from Knoxville who had come all the way to hear the court on TVA. There must have been numerous others like them.

This Was Real Show

The only consolation was that you could go down and hear Bill Green of the A. F. of L. and John Lewis battle at the mine workers' convention later in the afternoon. That was a real show.

No one had thought Green had it in him to try for 90 minutes, with splendid oratory, to convert the miners from crusading for industrial unionism. His mistake was in thinking he could woo such a tightly knit union from Lewis, its idol.

Few men ever showed more courage against overwhelming odds and few ever took a worse licking, as Lewis defied him amid the unanimous cheering of the miners.

Hon Chas. Curtis Dies

Hon. Charles Curtis, former vice president of the United States, died suddenly in Washington Saturday morning. Since his retirement from office in 1933, he had been practicing law in the national capital. Mr. Curtis was a staunch American patriot, believing in and living the ideals and principles on which the nation was founded.

He rounded out forty years of public service. They were years of faithfulness to duty, yet not spectacular or vainglorious years. Mr. Curtis served his state first in the House of Representatives from 1892 to 1907. He was then appointed to the Senate and remained in service there until his election as vice president.

He was a man of strong character and pronounced convictions; yet he never stepped from the inconspicuous place to which the vice presidential office sentences its occupants. He was the first native of Kansas to serve that state as senator, and brought to Washington the vitality and vigor of the great independent wheat belt of the nation.

With the return of a campaign season, Mr. Curtis was beginning to take an interest in politics, and was ready to take the field in support of the presidential candidacy of Governor Alf Landon of Kansas. He would have been a valuable asset in the campaign, and his death comes as a real loss of leadership to the Republican party and the nation.

No Reds Allowed

At a recent meeting the Springfield Board of Education denied to a communist organization the use of the high school for a Lincoln birthday meeting. Earl Browder, who took a prominent part in the communist Congress in Moscow, being the American representative, was to have been the speaker.

It is understood the theme of the meeting was to have been "Lincoln the Communist." That announcement brought a unanimous ban on the affair from the school board.

It was pointed out that the communists had in mind to use the meeting for propaganda, boasting that they held a meeting in a public building in Lincoln's home city on his birthday. It would have made good publicity.

But the plan has been very properly spiked. Communism has no place in the American scheme, and especially is it not wanted in connection with the public schools.

It Can Happen Here

"A nation may survive to correct its political mistakes. But if an unsound financial policy is coupled with this, the nation faces destruction." So spoke Gov. Alf M. Landon in his Kansas Day address. His remarks deserve most serious consideration of the citizenry at this time when a topheavy national budget seems to call for money inflation.

A look backward at Germany's experience with inflation will suffice to show what an unsound financial policy can do. Savings were swept away; wages lost their purchasing power; money was a mockery; suffering was everywhere; only the foreign visitors, who had real money to spend, fared fat in Germany.

Germany was a republic. Had she kept her finances sound, she might still be a republic. But today she is an autocracy, with power centered in one man and the people in servitude. The terrible suffering of her people during inflation brought desperation, and they flung themselves into the arms of a dictator, without restraint.

The United States has a debt of 30 billion dollars and is preparing to raise the amount andother five billions within the year. Where can the money be found to meet this burden? There is a growing temptation to start the printing presses, and the recent reaction to that movement should be viewed with alarm.

The huge gold reserve in the national treasury gives the impression that untold millions of paper money could safely be issued against it. It should be remembered, however, that even the gold in the treasury does not have a true value. It is already worth only 59 cents on the dollar. By a trick devaluation, the government added two billions to its value, billions that are not in the treasury and never were.

Hence when Governor Landon says that political mistakes coupled with unsound financial policies may lead to destruction, his statement is not to be lightly cast aside.

Swallowing Taxes

Of course we all have to swallow taxes, or have them rammed down our throats. But in these days we really swallow them with our food and drink. Every time your children drink a glass of milk, they swallow a tax, which appears to be continually getting larger.

President Thomas H. McInnerney of the National Dairy Products Corporation, says his company paid taxes in 1933 amounting to $3,840,000. In 1934 the taxes increased to $4,150,000, despite the fact that the firm's earnings decreased.

This means that children of the nation swallowed more taxes in 1934 than in 1933. Present indications are that a larger percentage of the price of a quart of milk will go to taxes this year and next.

Carleton College Band Concert to Be Featured Event

Symphony Band of 57 Men Will Play Wednesday at H.S. Auditorium

An event of unusual interest to music lovers of Jacksonville will be the appearance of the Carleton Symphony Band of fifty-seven pieces, foremost college band in the country, in a concert Feb. 12 at 8:15 in the H. S. Auditorium.

Departing from the tradition of a military or field band such as was made famous by John Philip Sousa, the Carleton Symphony Band has an instrumentation in which woodwinds predominate over the brasses and in which a string section is included. By this instrumental arrangement it can approach both the tonal variety and the color range of a symphony orchestra, and can play selections of depth and intricacy rarely attempted by other than orchestras. Its programs, numerous critics have said, are a revelation of what a band can do.

When James Robert Gillette, present conductor of the organization, founded the Carleton Symphony Band at Carleton College in Northfield, Minnesota, in November, 1923, he shocked old band men by reducing the trumpets from the usual ten to four, and the trombones from the customary twelve to four. He divided the clarinets greatly increased in number, into left and right sections on each side of the conductor's stand, similar to the positions of the first and second violin sections in a symphony orchestra, thus almost hiding the brass sections, so important to the field band. In addition, Mr. Gillette introduced two string basses, two violoncellos and a harp into the instrumentation of the band to increase its gamut of tone and color.

The instrumentation of the band, made standard for symphony bands by the National Music Bureau, is as follows: Five flutes, two oboes, one English horn, two bassoons, one contra bassoon, sixteen B-flat clarinets, one E-flat clarinet, one alto clarinet, one bass clarinet, five saxophones, four trumpets, four French horns, one baritone, three trombones, two tubas, two string basses, two violoncellos, one harp, two drums and one tympani. Twenty types of instruments are included in the instrumentation.

Files Complaint to Test Laws Applying To Municipal Plant

Attorney Hairgrove Seeks Injunction in Action Brought Saturday

A complaint to test the legality of the proposed municipal light and power plant, which was approved by a vote of citizens last month, was filed in Morgan county circuit court Saturday by Attorney William N. Hairgrove, with himself as complainant.

In the complaint which covers a large number of typewritten pages Hairgrove asked that the defendant (City of Jacksonville) "be forever enjoined and restrained from erecting, constructing or acquiring an electric generating and distributing system as proposed in said Ordinance No. 358."

This is the second suit to have been filed since the election on January 21 when citizens by a large plurality decided they want a municipal light plant. On the day following the election attorneys for the Illinois Power & Light Corporation introduced a suit in federal court at Springfield seeking an injunction against the project.

"I am filing this complaint for myself and for the citizens," Attorney Hairgrove declared, in explaining that it is a test suit brought for the purpose of determining the validity of the plant.

Hairgrove said he is an advocate of municipal ownership and wants to see the plant built if it can be done lawfully.

Attorney Orville N. Foreman, special counsel for the municipal plant project, had no comment to make on the filing of the suit other than "I am confident the ordinance will stand on its own merits."

In the complaint Hairgrove recited the history of the proposed plant, involving an expenditure of $420,000, payable solely from income of the utility, with a grant from the federal government covering a part of the cost of construction.

The complaint reads in part:

"That the city proposes, threatens and is about to issue and deliver public utility certificates as set forth in said ordinance No. 358; that the defendant unless immediately restrained from so doing will issue and deliver public utilities as aforesaid to the irreparable damage of the plaintiff; that the plaintiff brings this action on behalf of himself and other tax payers of said city who have no adequate remedy at law to protect his or their rights as tax payers in said city, and that unless the defendant is enjoined from proceeding with the plan and scheme set forth in said ordinance No. 358, the plaintiff and all other tax payers of said city will be irreparably damaged."

Accompanying the complaint which was filed in the office of Circuit Clerk Frank McCarthy early yesterday morning is a copy of the ordinance and blueprints of the proposed plant, a voluminous record to be threshed out by the courts.

HORNER CLUB PLANS MEETING NEXT WEEK

Officers of the Morgan County Horner for Governor club at a meeting Friday night made plans for a public meeting of the club to be held next Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the court house. Attorney A. E. Rouland of Springfield will deliver the address, taking old age pensions as his subject.

Elliott Ross Is 81 Years Old Today

White Hall Man Leads an Active Life; Ill Once in Sixty Years

White Hall.—Elliott Ross, who lives on a farm at the east city limits and owner of large tracts of land in Greene county and also in Minnesota, is 81 years of atoday and is quite well and active. He assists with the milking of a large herd of cows each night and morning and most of the time takes the milk to the condensing plant each morning.

Mr. Ross says that he has had the services of a physician only once in sixty years. He and his wife are great travelers and take long auto trips each year, camping in cabins en route and doing their own cooking as they go. Just now Mrs. Ross is confined to her bed with a heavy cold. They were married fifty-five years last November 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh P. Allen of Anchorage, Alaska, arrived Wednesday to visit for a few days in the home of Charles Richert and with the Seely families in this vicinity. Mrs. Allen before her marriage was Miss Edith Lange, daughter of A. F. and Emma Seely Lange of this city. Mr. Lange conducted a furniture store here at one time. He is now deceased, but Mrs. Lange resides with her daughter in Alaska.

Wrights Resident is Summoned by Death

Franklin O. Reavis Passes Away Friday Night: To Hold Funeral Today

Roodhouse — Franklin O. Reavis passed away at 7 o'clock Friday evening at his home in Wrights. He was a lifelong resident of the community, and was 54 years of age. He had been ill since last June.

He is survived by two children, Delbert and Helen, at home. His wife, Ruth Rhodes Reavis, preceded him in death. He leaves two brothers, Albert and Louis Reavis, both of Beloit, Wis., and the following sisters: Mrs. Lily Bradshaw and Mrs. Jessie Prather of White Hall, Mrs. N. C. Hearst of Haypress, and Mrs. John Mason of Rockbridge.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from Hickory Grove church, in charge of Rev. F. L. Crouch of Carlinville, with interment in Hickory Grove cemetery.

Mercury Dives

The mercury dropped 22 degrees in one hour yesterday at Roodhouse. The dive took place between 11:30 and 12:30 o'clock, and at the latter hour the reading was ten degrees above zero.

24 CHICKENS GONE FROM MELLOR FARM

Mrs. Robert Mellor, residing four miles south of Jacksonville near the hard road, called the sheriff's office early Saturday to report that 24 mixed chickens were stolen from her farm Friday night. Only one rooster escaped the clutches of the thieves, and was found in complete loneliness in the poultry house yesterday morning.

Deputies began an investigation and struck a clue which may lead to arrests.

Southern Tumbles Illinois College Cagers By 40 To 28 Score

Tight Defense Subdues Local Quint Easily

Lucas And Emery Toss In Points Rapidly As I. C. Stalls

Illinois College had an idea, but it didn't pay out last night around midnight, and Southern Illinois Teachers took a Little 19 conference basketball game 40 to 28. It seemed at one stage of the game the idea would pay off, but Lucas and Emery turned on their scoring guns.

Off to a six point lead at the start, the Blueboys fell behind about midway of the first half, and from then on they had to watch the Southern Teachers pull away. They came back in the second half, to within eight points of the visitors, but they lost their drive at that point, and Southern pulled away again.

The Fletcher brothers were almost the whole show for the Blueboys, but the other players, particularly Lambert, the newcomer, looked as if they are ready to overcome the loss of Louis Lasiter, big center, who it appears will be out for the remainder of the year as the result of an attack of pneumonia. McCullom was another of the outstanding Blueboys, handling a defensive position in good shape.

Considering their opposition, the Blueboys came off the court with a lot of glory. They had tough luck on a lot of their shots, and they tried something new for them—using a fast break but not trying to score until golden opportunities were hanging just around the corner.

Emory was the big gun for the Carbondale offense and defense, starting most of the operations and covering Cecil Fletcher most of the evening like a blanket, along with taking care of a good portion of the defense area under the I. C. hoop.

Illinois made three shots and led six points at the start, but Southern came back to make the count 6-5 before the Blueboys hit again. Watts dropped in a field goal, and then Southern banged its way into the lead with field goals and free tosses.

They worked the count out to 16 to 8 before Illinois scored, and then wound up the half with a 20 to 10 lead.

Illinois scored three points to start the second half, but the Teachers ran the count to 28 to 13, before I. C. cut loose. The Fletcher brothers and Lambert collaborated on some neat floor play to work the count to 28-20, the closest the Blueboys ever came, but Southern ran away with the scoring from then on, Emery dropping in two long ones while the team was running up a 37 to 20 margin.

The Blueboys spent the final few minutes banging in goals from the field, Cecil Fletcher swishing a couple of long ones in the final dash.

In a curtain raiser, The Illinois freshman won from the Springfield Junior College 46 to 13.

Tigers Drop Point Decision To Mt. Sterling

Stall Out Last Three Minutes To Win 23 To 21 Tight Game Here

Successfully stalling the last three minutes of a tight and hard fought ball game, Mt. Sterling high slipped one over on Illinois School for the Deaf last night on the I. S. D. boards, 23 to 21. The score was tied five times and the lead changed hands twice during the exciting game.

The Tigers missed four chances to score in the dying minutes of the game when they worked the ball under their own hoop, but the Mt. Sterling defense gathered quickly and snatched the ball to carry it to their own end of the court where they flipped it around to keep the Tigers from getting near the wicket.

Both teams were off in their free throw tossing, each scoring only once from the gift line. Lappin, Gordley and Wilson led the Mt. Sterling scoring, with six points each, while Bauman was the high point man for the Tigers with seven points.

The Tigers appeared to be somewhat worn from their hard game with Routt the night before, making several wild passes at critical stages. Mt. Sterling, on the other hand, made few errors in ball handling, and tried for their goals from further distances than the Tigers attempted.

Mt. Sterling got away to a 6-4 lead in the first quarter, but trailed by a 12-11 margin at the end of the first half. They tied up the count in the third quarter at 15 all, again at 17 all, and the period ended with the count knotted again at 19 all.

Taking the lead for the second time, I. S. D. broke in front in the fourth quarter on Wells' basket, but Gordley tied the count, and Moody sank another bucket to get what proved to be the winning basket.

Mark Peterman, who saw the Crimsons when they romped over Jerseyville, and before Winchester and Mt. Pulaski knocked them off, believes the Crimsons will be one of the 16 teams in the state finals this year.

—o—

Peterman, who is writing a series of articles for the United Press, points out that the Crimsons have two boys well over sex feet, and three speedsters who break very fast for the basket.

—o—

It has been our found hope that before the tournaments roll around the J. H. S. tribe would encounter a lot of this slow break basketball, and the result at Winchester leads us to believe they will get a lot of it from now on.

—o—

We hope they do. It is only through playing against this type of game that they will get their timing so set that their own offense will be able to get adjusted to various conditions.

—o—

And we'd just as soon see them hit a slump, if they are in one now, at the present time. That gives the team if it has the intestinal fortitude we believe it has, a chance to come back just about the time the whistles begin blowing in the big parade.

—o—

Mt. Sterling will furnish them a semblance of a slow break next Tuesday night, and Petersburg will use another variation of the delayed offense. Jerseyville employs the fast break, and although Feitshans has a small team, it probably will adopt some type of delay. Athens is the next big test ahead of the Crimsons, although the Athenians do not use a strictly slow breaking attack.

—o—

Individually, the Crimsons have a lot of competitive experience. They have boys naturally endowed with speed. They have several good basket shots, and capable ball handlers. They do not have, however, a gymnasium of sufficient size to thoroughly develop their offense and defense.

—o—

A high geared offense, such as the fast break demands, is just about as easily thrown out of rythmn by different floor conditions as it is by different types of defenses.

—o—

This Column, could, if it so desired, break a confidence and give the pairings for the various regionals and district tournaments this morning, but the request that this information be held up until Monday afternoon will be honored.

—o—

Stanley Davis, who played football and basketball for J. H. S. last year, is one of the candidates for the Michigan State freshman swimming squad this year. Davis is trying for one of the places on the diving team.

—o—

Ray Norris, White Hal high school lad, who traveled all over the country with Charlie Barrett, St. Louis Cardinal scout, last summer, is getting ready to join the ivory hunter again this year. Norris is 16 years old, a pitcher, but not quite ready for league ball yet.

—o—

Barrett will be located in California most of the summer, and may be placed in charge of the Sacremento club, recently taken over by the Cardinals. Norris got one of those handsome red Cardinal jackets from Barrett, and is quite proud of it.

—o—

Coach Frank Walker says Mt. Pulaski doesn't have a slow break—they have five big boys, two of them who towered over George Hamilton and George Moxon so high that neither Moxon nor Hamilton were able to do much work around the hoop. They have a dandy team, Walker declared, and their sportsmanship is such that the Crimson coach is looking forward to having them come over here next year.

—o—

It will be practically the same Mt. Pulaski team to come here, he added, because only one of the boys will graduate this year. Walker believes the Hilltoppers can be beat, but the Crimsons were not up to the job the other night. A little of that kind of competition would do them good, the coach believes.

—o—

"Red" Carl Thielbert, who flashed to fame in the downstate Catholic tournament held here, and later put on some of the same sort of basketball tossing in the national tournament to win national recognition, has enrolled at Illinois Wesleyan, but will be ineligible for another year because be attended a junior college in California last year. Coach Bell was his mentor while he was at Corpus Christi.

Waterloo May Have Ball Club

Waterloo, Ia., Feb. 8 —(AP)— Frank Haley, owner of the St. Joseph baseball club in the Western League, will come to Waterloo this week to complete negotiations with Waterloo business men for the location of the club here, the Waterloo Daily Courier says in a story tonight.

This development virtually makes certain a franchise for Waterloo in 1936 the Courier says. Dr. A. J. McLaughlin, president of the Western League, is quoted as saying: "We will have an eight-team league even if we have to build the eighth city."

Kansas City men have been interested in the St. Joseph franchise and will operate there, the Courier says, and the eighth city will be Peoria, Ill., if the Illinois town can break away from the Three-I League which has not yet decided whether or not to operate in 1936.

Haley is now in Hollywood, Calif.

McCooey Slips Over 16 to 13 Win at Routt

McCooey Fails To Get Field Goal In First Half, Routt In Second

In a weird game in which one team failed to score from the field in the first half, and the other team in the second half, McCooey high of Hannibal, Mo., slipped a basketball defeat into Routt's hands last night on the Liberty Hall court, 16-13.

Held scoreless from the field, and to a single free throw in the first half, the visitors turned the tables on the Rockets in the final period to shut them out from the field, and allow them only six chances from the free throw line, only three of which went through the net.

Routt piled up a 10 to 1 margin in the first half after holding a 1-0 lead at the end of the first quarter. The tide changed just as rapidly in the second period when McCooey assaulted the same wicket Routt had done its scoring from the field to register six fielders.

Time Supply Wins Over Discovery

Los Angeles, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Time Supply won the San Antonio handicap today, with Pompey's Pillar second and Ariel Cross third.

Discovery, the favorite, was fifth.

A record Santa Anita crowd of 45,000 witnessed the upset of Discovery which had been expected to make it a two-horse race against Cavalcade. But Cavalcade was scratched because of a hoof injury.

Time Supply, owned by Mrs. F. A. Carreaud, set a new track record for the mile and one furlong of 1:49.2, one-fifth of a second better the mark of Riskulus last year.

The winner took the lead at the start, yielded it at the half to Prince Abbott, but regained it quickly and went into the stretch four lengths ahead of Ariel Cross.

Time Supply paid $9, $4 and $3.60 for a $2 ticket. Pompey's Pillar paid $19.20 and $7.60 and Ariel Cross $4.

White Hall tossed in 11 out of 24 chances, and Jerseyville made one out of 10, each team scoring 11 times from the field.

Two Cities Would Join Grid League

Philadelphia, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Applications for franchises in the national professional football league were received from Los Angeles and Buffalo at the opening session of the annual meeting of league officials today.

Harry Myers, representing the Los Angeles American Legion, made the bid for the coast team. He said games would be played in Gilmore Stadium where the Legion successfully conducted a pro league last season. Green Bay and Detroit drew a crowd of 20,000 there two weeks ago he said.

Charley Murray, Buffalo promoter, said if Buffalo were admitted to the league, games would be played in a new stadium which will seat 50,000. The stadium is under construction and will be completed by fall.

No definite action was taken on either application. The officials were reported to be divided over the Los Angeles proposal.

Detroit was officially awarded the championship, succeeding the New York Giants in top pro football rank.

Last Second Goal Defeats J. H. S. Quint

Smith Fires Two Winning Baskets For Pittsfield To Beat J. H. S.

A chubby little youngster of the Smith family tossed in two winning baskets last night on the David Prince court to give Pittsfield high a 19 to 17 victory over Jacksonville high, their third straight defeat. Smith's last toss, with only ten seconds to go, clinched the issue after an overtime seemed to be on the order blank.

Throwing a dramatic finish to a raggedly played game for both teams, the Pittsfield youngster tossed in his first bucket with a minute and a half to go, giving Pittsfield a single point margin. A half minute later this same youngster fouled Alb Ketner while the Crimson forward was tossing for a goal, and Ketner made one of the tosses to tie the count at 17 all with a little more than a half minute to go.

Back into a coffin corner Smith worked his way, took a pass, and then blazed away. The ball hit the iron, bounded high above the backboard, and then came back through the mesh with a slight swish for the winning basket.

The Indians, somewhat worn by their hard tussle with Quincy the night before, and the Crimsons, tired from their jaunt to Mt. Pulaski and the big floor where they played there, were both off in their ball handling to some extent, but the Indians were a bit more calm about their efforts. They took a 5 to 2 lead in the first quarter, and hung on through the second period to lead by a single point, 11 to 10.

Jacksonville took its first lead in the third period by a single point, 14-13, where the period ended, and all through the final period the lead changed hands with the baskets as they fell through alternate hoops.

Southern Tumbles Illinois College Cagers By 40 To 28 Score

Tight Defense Subdues Local Quint Easily

Lucas And Emery Toss In Points Rapidly As I. C. Stalls

Illinois College had an idea, but it didn't pay out last night around midnight, and Southern Illinois Teachers took a Little 19 conference basketball game 40 to 28. It seemed at one stage of the game the idea would pay off, but Lucas and Emery turned on their scoring guns.

Off to a six point lead at the start, the Blueboys fell behind about midway of the first half, and from then on they had to watch the Southern Teachers pull away. They came back in the second half, to within eight points of the visitors, but they lost their drive at that point, and Southern pulled away again.

The Fletcher brothers were almost the whole show for the Blueboys, but the other players, particularly Lambert, the newcomer, looked as if they are ready to overcome the loss of Louis Lasiter, big center, who it appears will be out for the remainder of the year as the result of an attack of pneumonia. McCullom was another of the outstanding Blueboys, handling a defensive position in good shape.

Considering their opposition, the Blueboys came off the court with a lot of glory. They had tough luck on a lot of their shots, and they tried something new for them—using a fast break but not trying to score until golden opportunities were hanging just around the corner.

Emory was the big gun for the Carbondale offense and defense, starting most of the operations and covering Cecil Fletcher most of the evening like a blanket, along with taking care of a good portion of the defense area under the I. C. hoop.

Illinois made three shots and led six points at the start, but Southern came back to make the count 6-5 before the Blueboys hit again. Watts dropped in a field goal, and then Southern banged its way into the lead with field goals and free tosses.

They worked the count out to 16 to 8 before Illinois scored, and then wound up the half with a 20 to 10 lead.

Illinois scored three points to start the second half, but the Teachers ran the count to 28 to 13, before I. C. cut loose. The Fletcher brothers and Lambert collaborated on some neat floor play to work the count to 28-20, the closest the Blueboys ever came, but Southern ran away with the scoring from then on, Emery dropping in two long ones while the team was running up a 37 to 20 margin.

The Blueboys spent the final few minutes banging in goals from the field, Cecil Fletcher swishing a couple of long ones in the final dash.

In a curtain raiser, The Illinois freshman won from the Springfield Junior College 46 to 13.

Tigers Drop Point Decision To Mt. Sterling

Stall Out Last Three Minutes To Win 23 To 21 Tight Game Here

Successfully stalling the last three minutes of a tight and hard fought ball game, Mt. Sterling high slipped one over on Illinois School for the Deaf last night on the I. S. D. boards, 23 to 21. The score was tied five times and the lead changed hands twice during the exciting game.

The Tigers missed four chances to score in the dying minutes of the game when they worked the ball under their own hoop, but the Mt. Sterling defense gathered quickly and snatched the ball to carry it to their own end of the court where they flipped it around to keep the Tigers from getting near the wicket.

Both teams were off in their free throw tossing, each scoring only once from the gift line. Lappin, Gordley and Wilson led the Mt. Sterling scoring, with six points each, while Bauman was the high point man for the Tigers with seven points.

The Tigers appeared to be somewhat worn from their hard game with Routt the night before, making several wild passes at critical stages. Mt. Sterling, on the other hand, made few errors in ball handling, and tried for their goals from further distances than the Tigers attempted.

Mt. Sterling got away to a 6-4 lead in the first quarter, but trailed by a 12-11 margin at the end of the first half. They tied up the count in the third quarter at 15 all, again at 17 all, and the period ended with the count knotted again at 19 all.

Taking the lead for the second time, I. S. D. broke in front in the fourth quarter on Wells' basket, but Gordley tied the count, and Moody sank another bucket to get what proved to be the winning basket.

Mark Peterman, who saw the Crimsons when they romped over Jerseyville, and before Winchester and Mt. Pulaski knocked them off, believes the Crimsons will be one of the 16 teams in the state finals this year.

—o—

Peterman, who is writing a series of articles for the United Press, points out that the Crimsons have two boys well over sex feet, and three speedsters who break very fast for the basket.

—o—

It has been our found hope that before the tournaments roll around the J. H. S. tribe would encounter a lot of this slow break basketball, and the result at Winchester leads us to believe they will get a lot of it from now on.

—o—

We hope they do. It is only through playing against this type of game that they will get their timing so set that their own offense will be able to get adjusted to various conditions.

—o—

And we'd just as soon see them hit a slump, if they are in one now, at the present time. That gives the team if it has the intestinal fortitude we believe it has, a chance to come back just about the time the whistles begin blowing in the big parade.

—o—

Mt. Sterling will furnish them a semblance of a slow break next Tuesday night, and Petersburg will use another variation of the delayed offense. Jerseyville employs the fast break, and although Feitshans has a small team, it probably will adopt some type of delay. Athens is the next big test ahead of the Crimsons, although the Athenians do not use a strictly slow breaking attack.

—o—

Individually, the Crimsons have a lot of competitive experience. They have boys naturally endowed with speed. They have several good basket shots, and capable ball handlers. They do not have, however, a gymnasium of sufficient size to thoroughly develop their offense and defense.

—o—

A high geared offense, such as the fast break demands, is just about as easily thrown out of rythmn by different floor conditions as it is by different types of defenses.

—o—

This Column, could, if it so desired, break a confidence and give the pairings for the various regionals and district tournaments this mornins, but the request that this information be held up until Monday afternoon will be honored.

—o—

Stanley Davis, who played football and basketball for J. H. S. last year, is one of the candidates for the Michigan State freshman swimming squad this year. Davis is trying for one of the places on the diving team.

—o—

Ray Norris, White Hal high school lad, who traveled all over the country with Charlie Barrett, St. Louis Cardinal scout, last summer, is getting ready to join the ivory hunter again this year. Norris is 16 years old, a pitcher, but not quite ready for league ball yet.

—o—

Barrett will be located in California most of the summer, and may be placed in charge of the Sacremento club, recently taken over by the Cardinals. Norris got one of those handsome red Cardinal jackets from Barrett, and is quite proud of it.

—o—

Coach Frank Walker says Mt. Pulaski doesn't have a slow break—they have five big boys, two of them who towered over George Hamilton and George Moxon so high that neither Moxon nor Hamilton were able to do much work around the hoop. They have a dandy team, Walker declared, and their sportsmanship is such that the Crimson coach is looking forward to having them come over here next year.

—o—

It will be practically the same Mt. Pulaski team to come here, he added, because only one of the boys will graduate this year. Walker believes the Hilltoppers can be beat, but the Crimsons were not up to the job the other night. A little of that kind of competition would do them good, the coach believes.

—o—

"Red" Carl Thielbert, who flashed to fame in the downstate Catholic tournament held here, and later put on some of the same sort of basketball tossing in the national tournament to win national recognition, has enrolled at Illinois Wesleyan, but will be ineligible for another year because be attended a junior college in California last year. Coach Bell was his mentor while he was at Corpus Christi.

Waterloo May Have Ball Club

Waterloo, Ia., Feb. 8 —(AP)— Frank Haley, owner of the St. Joseph baseball club in the Western League, will come to Waterloo this week to complete negotiations with Waterloo business men for the location of the club here, the Waterloo Daily Courier says in a story tonight.

This development virtually makes certain a franchise for Waterloo in 1936 the Courier says. Dr. A. J. McLaughlin, president of the Western League, is quoted as saying: "We will have an eight-team league even if we have to build the eighth city."

Kansas City men have been interested in the St. Joseph franchise and will operate there, the Courier says, and the eighth city will be Peoria, Ill., if the Illinois town can break away from the Three-I League which has not yet decided whether or not to operate in 1936.

Haley is now in Hollywood, Calif.

McCooey Slips Over 16 to 13 Win at Routt

McCooey Fails To Get Field Goal In First Half, Routt In Second

In a weird game in which one team failed to score from the field in the first half, and the other team in the second half, McCooey high of Hannibal, Mo., slipped a basketball defeat into Routt's hands last night on the Liberty Hall court, 16-13.

Held scoreless from the field, and to a single free throw in the first half, the visitors turned the tables on the Rockets in the final period to shut them out from the field, and allow them only six chances from the free throw line, only three of which went through the net.

Routt piled up a 10 to 1 margin in the first half after holding a 1-0 lead at the end of the first quarter. The tide changed just as rapidly in the second period when McCooey assaulted the same wicket Routt had done its scoring from the field to register six fielders.

Time Supply Wins Over Discovery

Los Angeles, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Time Supply won the San Antonio handicap today, with Pompey's Pillar second and Ariel Cross third.

Discovery, the favorite, was fifth.

A record Santa Anita crowd of 45,000 witnessed the upset of Discovery which had been expected to make it a two-horse race against Cavalcade. But Cavalcade was scratched because of a hoof injury.

Time Supply, owned by Mrs. F. A. Carreaud, set a new track record for the mile and one furlong of 1:49.2, one-fifth of a second better the mark of Riskulus last year.

The winner took the lead at the start, yielded it at the half to Prince Abbott, but regained it quickly and went into the stretch four lengths ahead of Ariel Cross.

Time Supply paid $9, $4 and $3.60 for a $2 ticket. Pompey's Pillar paid $19.20 and $7.60 and Ariel Cross $4.

White Hall tossed in 11 out of 24 chances, and Jerseyville made one out of 10, each team scoring 11 times from the field.

Two Cities Would Join Grid League

Philadelphia, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Applications for franchises in the national professional football league were received from Los Angeles and Buffalo at the opening session of the annual meeting of league officials today.

Harry Myers, representing the Los Angeles American Legion, made the bid for the coast team. He said games would be played in Gilmore Stadium where the Legion successfully conducted a pro league last season. Green Bay and Detroit drew a crowd of 20,000 there two weeks ago he said.

Charley Murray, Buffalo promoter, said if Buffalo were admitted to the league, games would be played in a new stadium which will seat 80,000. The stadium is under construction and will be completed by fall.

No definite action was taken on either application. The officials were reported to be divided over the Los Angeles proposal.

Detroit was officially awarded the championship, succeeding the New York Giants in top pro football rank.

Last Second Goal Defeats J. H. S. Quint

Smith Fires Two Winning Baskets For Pittsfield To Beat J. H. S.

A chubby little youngster of the Smith family tossed in two winning baskets last night on the David Prince court to give Pittsfield high a 19 to 17 victory over Jacksonville high, their third straight defeat. Smith's last toss, with only ten seconds to go, clinched the issue after an overtime seemed to be on the order blank.

Throwing a dramatic finish to a raggedly played game for both teams, the Pittsfield youngster tossed in his first bucket with a minute and a half to go, giving Pittsfield a single point margin. A half minute later this same youngster fouled Alb Ketner while the Crimson forward was tossing for a goal, and Ketner made one of the tosses to tie the count at 17 all with a little more than a half minute to go.

Back into a coffin corner Smith worked his way, took a pass, and then blazed away. The ball hit the iron, bounded high above the backboard, and then came back through the mesh with a slight swish for the winning basket.

The Indians, somewhat worn by their hard tussle with Quincy the night before, and the Crimsons, tired from their jaunt to Mt. Pulaski and the big floor where they played there, were both off in their ball handling to some extent, but the Indians were a bit more calm about their efforts. They took a 5 to 2 lead in the first quarter, and hung on through the second period to lead by a single point, 11 to 10.

Jacksonville took its first lead in the third period by a single point, 14-13, where the period ended, and all through the final period the lead changed hands with the baskets as they fell through alternate hoops.

Patty Berg Wins Biltmore Classic

Coral Gables, Fla., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The meteoric career of 17-year-old Patty Berg, Minneapolis' red haired school girl, hit another high point this afternoon as she won the fourth annual Miami Biltmore Women's Amateur Golf tournament.

In drizzling rain swirling along on cold, gusty winds, the plucky youngster, one down at the end of the morning 18, paraded through 18 holes of the afternoon round in one stroke under par to defeat Marion Miley, of Lexington, Ky., 4 and 3, in the 36 hole final.

It was the second straight victory in Florida for the Minneapolis youngster, who took up golf five years ago and improved so swiftly she reached the final of the 1935 national.

Last week at Punta Gorda, she defeated more experienced golf stars to reach the final, where she upset Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews, of Miami, five time Metropolitan champion.

Miss Berg's game was ragged during the morning round. Tee shots and woods found sand traps at three fourths the holes and one long putt after another hung at the lip of the cup. She needed 87 strokes, five over par, for the round and found herself one down to the tall, brunette Miss Miley, whose medal figure was also 87.

This afternoon, however, Patty won the first in par to square matters, halved the next in bogey figures and bettered par one stroke at the third to go one up. She was not headed thereafter, as pars and birdies that atoned for bogeys clicked monotonously from her clubs.

Her medal card for the out nine this afternoon was 39, against 44 this morning, while Miss Miley needed 45, one more than her 44 of the morning. Miss Berg was even part for the last six holes of the match, the Kentuckian slipping two over.

Chuck Klein Has Signed Contract

Chicago, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Charles "Chuck" Klein, who kicked up quite a fuss before agreeing to accept $30,000 for his baseball labors in 1934, took his second straight salary cut today by signing a 1936 Chicago Cub contract for $12,500.

After some correspondence with his Cub bosses, who tried to get him for years and then succeeded by paying $125,000 to Philadelphia for his contract in the fall of 1933, the big outfielded decided to take the offer. Under the Cub bonus system, he will have a chance to boost that salary if he approaches anything near the form that made him one of the greatest hitters in the game at Philadelphia.

Klein, except for a flash here and there such as his winning home run in the fifth game of last fall's world series against Detroit, has been a great disappointment since joining the Cubs. Because of injuries and a downright dislike for the architectural makeup of Wrigley Field, hime of the Cubs, the former Philly home run king has suffered his worst batting slumps. In 1934, he played in 115 games and hit .301 after a great start; last season, he batted but .293 in 119 games, winding up the season on the bench.

Klein's signed papers brought all but four of the championship Cubs in the fold. All except Outfielder Augie Galan, Shortstop Bill Jurges and Pitchers Larry French and Bill Lee have signed. Galan is the only one of the quartet who has definitely advised the Cub office that his 1936 contract is unsatisfactory

Dempsey, Kearns To Meet Again

Chicago, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Those old ex-battery mates, Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns, are going to glare at each other from opposite corners of the ring after all.

Red Burman, Baltimore red head, managed by Dempsey, and Hank Bath, Fort Morgan, Colo., heavyweight protege of Kearns, were matched today for a ten round battle in the Chicago stadium next Friday night. They were scheduled to box in Madison Square Garden a month ago, but the New York State Athletic commission held it up pending clearing of a reported difficulty Kearns had with the California commission.

Both factions were offered 25 per cent, but when Dempsey held out for 30 percent, the difference almost spelled the attraction. The Kearns-Dempsey feud became an underlying factor because Dempsey was not agreeable to accepting a lesser sum that would go to the man with whom he has had a famous misunderstanding for many years. Matchmaker Jim Mullen and Nate Lewis effected a delicate compromise, with the result that all is even in the purse money.

Bath, an appolo-like youngster weighing 188 pounds, made a stunning impression in his sensational 10 round fight with Billy Treest, a thunderbolt from Batavia, Ill., two weeks ago. Floored three times along the route, Bath got up to make a courageous finish that won the admiration of the fans, although he lost the decision

German Girl Leads Women Slalom Race

American Team of Four Fails to Approach Times Marked Up by Other Contestants

Garmisch - Partenkirchen, — (AP) — Christel Cranz of Germany set the pace for the world's leading women skiers today in the slalom race of the fourth winter Olympics.

The German ace made the two descents in 72 and 7.1 seconds, respectively, according to the unofficial times. Her aggregate of 142.1 seconds gave her a wide margin over the rest of the field.

Trailing Fraulein Cranz were Kathe Grasegger, Germany, with aggregate time of 153.4; Laila Schou-Nilsen of Norway, winner of the Downhill race yesterday, 157.4; Erne Steuri, Switzerland, 158.4, and Johanne Dybwad, Norway, 171.4.

The American team of four failed even to approach the performances of the leaders. Mrs. Helen Boughton-Leigh of Cleveland had aggregate time of 217.5; Elizabeth Woolsey of New Haven, Conn., 230.1; Clarita Heath, California, 265.7. The fourth member of the team, Mary Elizabeth Bird of Boston, needed 158.9 seconds to complete the first descent and was not permitted to race in the second.

Spills were frequent as the contestants sped down the almost vertical course—800 meters long with a drop of 270 meters, a twisting flag-marked descent calling for utmost control, precision and speed.

Patty Berg Wins Biltmore Classic

Coral Gables, Fla., Feb. 8—(AP)—The meteoric career of 17-year-old Patty Berg, Minneapolis' red haired school girl, hit another high point this afternoon as she won the fourth annual Miami Biltmore Women's Amateur Golf tournament.

In drizzling rain swirling along on cold, gusty winds, the plucky youngster, one down at the end of the morning 18, paraded through 15 holes of the afternoon round in one stroke under par to defeat Marion Miley, of Lexington, Ky., 4 and 3, in the 36 hole final.

It was the second straight victory in Florida for the Minneapolis youngster, who took up golf five years ago and improved so swiftly she reached the final of the 1935 national.

Last week at Punta Gorda, she defeated more experienced golf stars to reach the final, where she upset Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews, of Miami, five time Metropolitan champion.

Miss Berg's game was ragged during the morning round. Tee shots and woods found sand traps at three fourths the holes and one long putt after another hung at the lip of the cup. She needed 87 strokes, five over par, for the round and found herself one down to the tall, brunette Miss Miley, whose medal figure was also 87.

Lincoln Private Papers Available In 11 More Years

Documents Are Securely Locked In Compartment In Library Of Congress

By Milburn P. Akers
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Abraham Lincoln has been dead for 71 years but it still will be eleven more years before his private papers will become available to historians.

They are locked securely in a sealed compartment at the library of congress and so rigid are the instructions hedging the gift that neither official nor private citizen may lay hands on them until July 26, 1947.

The collection, the largest one extant of Lincoln letters, manuscripts and papers, was given to the library by Robert Todd Lincoln, the Emancipator's son, with the provision that it would not be opened for inspection until 21 years after his death.

The younger Lincoln died July 26, 1926, after a career as union army officer, lawyer, cabinet member and ambassador to Great Britain. He began depositing his father's papers with the Library of Congress in 1919 but no announcement of his gift was made until 1922 when he had completed the task.

The deed of gift provided that "all of said letters, manuscripts, documents and other papers shall be placed in a sealed vault or compartment and carefully preserved from official or public inspection or private view until the expiration of 21 years from the date of my death."

Dr. J. F. Jameson, chief of the library's manuscript division, said the collection filled 126 file cases. Other than to note that the number of years during which the papers were closed to public or private inspection was "much greater than ordinary," library officials have disclosed nothing regarding the collection.

Lincoln's biographers, Nicolay and Hay, who served as his secretaries during his presidency, had access to the papers in the preparation of their "Life of Abraham Lincoln." That was many years before Lincoln's son gave the collection to the nation.

Four Bandits Rob Bank Near Chicago And Make Escape

One Robber, Dressed As Priest, Leads Gang During Holdup

Chicago, Feb. 8—(AP)—Four men, one of them disguised as a priest, robbed the suburban Oak Lawn Trust and Savings bank today of $2,500 and escaped under the fire of two policemen.

Five years ago the bank was robbed of $3,000 and in 1932 two bandits were captured when police foiled an attempted holdup. Another robbery attempt was frustrated last year.

It had been the custom of the bank for some time to keep the front door locked during the early banking hours. Cashier Richard Triezenberg would admit only those customers whom he could identify.

Today a man attired in clerical garb appeared at the door. Triezenberg unhesitatingly released the electrical door control.

The robber, carrying out his role of a priest, stood at the cashier's cage while Triezenberg waited on two customers.

When they left the robber drew a pistol and said: "This is a stickup. Let my pals in."

Triezenberg obeyed and the three robber companions who had waited on the outside rushed into the bank.

The bandits scooped up all loose cash and bills in the cages and hurried out to their automobile.

Policemen John Cleveland and Edward Hosman, who were off duty, came by at the time. Realizing that a robbery had just taken place, they fired at the auto. Soon afterward a highway police squad took up pursuit of the bandits. They were outdistanced.

Would Keep All Republicans Off County Ticket

Charles West Has Filed Suit In Chicago Courts

Chicago, Feb. 8—(AP)—An injunction suit contending that the Republican party has no existence in Cook county (Chicago) was filed today on behalf of Charles West, president of the Rogers Park Civic League, a Republican.

His bill asked Superior Judge Chas. A. Williams to restrain City Clerk Peter J. Brady and County Clerk Michael Flynn from accepting the nominations of any county candidates.

Attorney Gregory A. Gelderman, who with Attorney Thomas F. Reilly brought the suit, explained their theory that the GOP organization committed suicide in Chicago last July.

"In the judicial elections, the Republican leaders agreed not to put forth a slate, after forming a coalition with the Democrats. What Republican candidates there were appeared as Democrats, there was no Republican column on the ticket.

"Consequently, the Republican party failed to secure 5 per cent of the total vote cast, and lost its recognition, under state law, as a political party."

Judge Williams said he would hear arguments later today. A total of 109 Republicans filed for county offices before the suit was brought.

Eleven Marooned On Ice Bound Boat

Paducah, Ky., Feb. 8—(AP)—With a blizzard howling in from the northwest eleven men were marooned tonight on an ice bound boat in the Ohio river 35 miles from Paducah.

All hope of escape cut off they appeared certain of isolation for at least several days. Seventeen other workmen, who had been part of a government river crew, managed to reach shore and return to Paducah.

C. J. Rhodes, chief engineer at the United States Engineer Department report here, said the trapped men are in no immediate danger. They have food sufficient to last six days.

The marooned workers are Samuel Orr, George L. Jeffries and Amos Clark of Paducah; Charles Rayle, Vevay, Ind.; Lloyd Presser, Burlington, Ky.; William Becker, Cleves, O.; Jewel Green, and Andrew S. Henderson of Brookport, Ill.; Truman Windhorst, Joppa, Ill.; Harley Loven, Karnak, Ill., and Otto Young of Uniontown, Ky.

The quarter boat on which the men must live for an indefinite time is in a sheltered stretch of open water between Hurricane and Plew islands just above Elizabethtown, Ill. The men have access to these islands but cannot reach either the Kentucky or Illinois shores.

The men had been working on a dyke the government is building.

Ickes Summons His Staff To Capital

Washington, Feb. 8—(AP)—Secretary Ickes today summoned the Public Works Administration staff to a three-day conference beginning Monday for "an exchange of ideas, a discussion of common problems in connection with PWA's participation in the work-relief program and reports on the virtual completion of the original PWA program."

Speculation arose immediately over the possibility that Ickes expected President Roosevelt — who ommitted additional PWA non-federal and low-cost housing appropriations from his budget message—to ask congress for additional funds.

Ickes, who will talk early next week at a Lincoln celebration at Springfield, Ill., will make no speech to the gathering. Col. Horatio B. Hackett, assistant PWA administrator, will be in charge.

Ickes said 70 per cent of old non-federal projects had been completed and that the remaining 30 per cent, involving a total cost of $767,000,000 was "well on the way to completion."

Publisher And Governor Clash In Minneapolis

Sweeping Grand Jury Crime Investigation Has Been Promised

Minneapolis, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A sweeping grand jury crime investigation was promised today as Gov. Floyd B. Olson and Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, engaged in a bitter personal exchange over alleged lawlessness here.

To the governor's retort that he "is a fakir in his alleged war on crime" the publisher promptly answered he would formally reply " if Governor Olson is cleared of the Liggett murder x x and not before."

The investigation of alleged widespread vice was pledged by Oliver T. Naugle, foreman of the grand jury who said "there's enough stuff here to keep us busy until next December."

The McCormick-Olson exchange overshadowed other developments of the day in the situation revolving about the slaying of Walter Liggett, crusading editor last December 9, and the chain of events it precipitated. There was no session today of the trial if Isadore Blumenfeld (Kidd Cann) for the killing. Defense testimony was to be resumed Monday.

The governor's statement, issued from Rochester where he is still recuperating from an operation, accused the Chicago publisher of being "a Czaristic minded reactionary" and a "journalistic charlatan." He alleged the Chicagoan was silent when "Chicago was the world's worst cesspool of corruption and crime" and blamed him for being "morally responsible for the deaths of many persons" from dysentery during the 1933 world's Fair because "he suppressed the truth."

It was occasioned by Col. McCormick's campaign of murdering editors mick's talk last night at Columbus, O., where McCormick asserted "Olson lent aid and assistance to gangland and all who cross his path."

Justice Orr Says Criminal Is Not Getting "Breaks"

Declares Supreme Court Handling Cases More Rapidly

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 8—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Warren H. Orr, Carthage, Ill., told the Illinois county and probate judges in convention here today that "the criminal is no longer getting all the breaks."

"Now we are beginning to give the people a few breaks toward the conviction of criminals," he said.

Justice Orr cited four recent decisions of the high court showing the improvement in the administration of criminal law.

"Criminal cases are now reviewed in the term of court after their trial. The docket is in shape so that a decision should be handed down within 60 days after the case reaches us. In instances where this isn't done you will know that the decision of the court was not unanimous and the case was assigned to a different justice to write an opinion," he said.

Charles P. Megan, president of the Illinois State Bar Association, predicted increased powers and slight changes in the functions of county judges.

Probate Judge Harry C. Daniels, of Elgin, was elected president of the association. He succeeded Judge Ray Sesler, Pontiac. County Judge Egerett Lewis, Benton, was elected first vice-president. Judge Charles M. Weber, of Champaign, was elected second vice-president, and Judge Benjamin S. DeBoice, Springfield, secretary and treasurer.

Lincoln's Home Town Prepares For Pilgrimage

Hundreds Of Visitors Are Expected At Tomb And Springfield Home

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Abraham Lincoln's home town today spruced up for the nation's annual pilgrimage to commemorate the birth of the Great Emancipator Feb. 12 1809, 127 years ago next Wednesday.

The tomb of the Civil War president, his Springfield home and the nearly reconstructed village of New Salem where Lincoln lived as a young man were ready to receive hundreds of visitors, while many more were expected at meetings in his honor.

Distinguished visitors from all parts of the nation were expected to travel to Lincoln Shrines in this vicinity to participate in ceremonies.

The largest delegation was expected to be a throng of veterans from the country's wars since 1861. They will pay homage at the shining, marble tomb in Oakridge cemetery where Lincoln was buried, cross the city to his home and from there go to New Salem.

Heading this pilgrimage will be the national American Legion Commander J. Ray Murphy, Mrs. Melville Muckleston, national Legion Auxiliary president; Governor Henry Horner, and state chiefs of the Grand Army of the Republic. The program will be broadcast over a nationwide network of radio stations.

On Tuesday night, the governor will join Governor Eugene Talmadge of Georgia and Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes as principal guests at a birthday program staged by the midday luncheon club of Springfield. Both will remain for Wednesday's ceremonies, according to present plans.

The Abraham Lincoln association will observe the birthday with a meeting Wednesday afternoon and a dinner that night. Dr. Andrew C. McLaughlin, professor emeritus of American history at the University of Chicago, and Prof. I. V. Smith of the University faculty will be the principal speakers.

Publisher And Governor Clash In Minneapolis

Sweeping Grand Jury Crime Investigation Has Been Promised

Minneapolis, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A sweeping grand jury crime investigation was promised today as Gov. Floyd B. Olson and Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, engaged in a bitter personal exchange over alleged lawlessness here.

To the governor's retort that he "is a fakir in his alleged war on crime" the publisher promptly answered he would formally reply "if Governor Olson is cleared of the biggest murder case in the state and not before."

The investigation of alleged widespread vice was pledged by Oliver P. Naugle, foreman of the grand jury who said "there's enough stuff here to keep us busy until next December."

The McCormick-Olson exchange overshadowed other developments of the day in the situation revolving about the slaying of Walter Liggett, crusading editor last December 8, and the chain of events it precipitated. There was no session today of the trial of Isadore Blumenfeld (Kidd Cann) for the killing. Defense testimony was to be resumed Monday.

The governor's statement, issued from Rochester where he is still recuperating from an operation, accused the Chicago publisher of being "a Czaristic minded reactionary" and a "journalistic charlatan." He alleged the Chicagoan was silent when "Chicago was the world's worst cesspool of corruption and crime" and blamed him for being "morally responsible for the deaths of many persons" from dysentery during the 1933 world's Fair because "he suppressed the truth."

It was occasioned by Col. McCormick in his campaign of murdering editors mick's talk last night at Columbus, O., where McCormick asserted Olson lent aid and assistance to gangland and all who cross its path."

Justice Orr Says Criminal Is Not Getting "Breaks"

Declares Supreme Court Handling Cases More Rapidly

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Warren H. Orr, Carthage, Ill., told the Illinois county and probate judges in convention here today that "the criminal is no longer getting all the breaks."

"Now we are beginning to give the people a few breaks toward the conviction of criminals," he said.

Justice Orr cited four recent decisions of the high court showing the improvement in the administration of criminal law.

"Criminal cases are now reviewed in the term of court after their trial. The docket is in shape so that a decision should be handed down within 90 days after the case reaches us. In instances where this isn't done you will know that the decision of the court was not unanimous and the case was assigned to a different justice to write an opinion," he said.

Charles P. Megan, president of the Illinois State Bar Association, predicted increased powers and slight changes in the functions of county judges.

Probate Judge Harry C. Daniels, of Elgin, was elected president of the association. He succeeded Judge Ray Sesler, Pontiac. County Judge Emmett Lewis, Benton, was elected first vice-president. Judge Charles M. Webber, of Champaign, was elected second vice-president, and Judge Benjamin S. DeBoice, Springfield, secretary and treasurer.

Poultry and Eggs Profitable Produce

Raising Chickens for early marketing is usually a profitable venture. True, it requires some work, but it pays. To get the best out of it, an early start should be made.

Maintaining flocks for the production of eggs also is profitable, and this too requires care and work in order to produce the egg that brings the better prices.

The STRANGE CASE of JULIA CRAIG

by Nard Jones

Copyright NEA 1936

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JULIA CRAIG, secretary to GEORGE WOODFORD, lawyer, is ambitious to become a night club singer. Because of this she quarrels with PETER KEMP, young lawyer who is in love with her.

Julia shares an apartment with AMY SANDERS.

Woodford gives a yacht party and asks Julia to come as a singer. Others in the party include CINTRA LEE, dancer; MRS. JOSEPH, widow; HUGO NASH and ROYAL NESBITT.

They go to Evergreen Island, where Woodford has a lodge. There Julia meets TOM PAYSON, camping nearby. Woodford, Nash and Nesbitt go hunting and Nesbitt is injured. The party leaves immediately to get him to a doctor.

Julia gets a job singing on TONY LATTA'S gambling ship. She sees Payson frequently. Woodford telephones her and warns her to say nothing of what happened on the yacht.

SMITH GARLAND opens a new night club and hires Julia as the featured singer. On the opening night she learns Payson is backing the club.

Nesbitt's body is discovered. A policeman comes to the night club, tells Julia she must go to headquarters for questioning.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXII

AS long as Julia Craig lived she would never spend another hour such as the one which followed her entrance into that dark building with Dunphy at her side.

"This is Julia Craig," Dunphy said, as if she were some insignicant object he had just taken from his pocket and tossed onto the table.

The police captain nodded "Sorry to trouble you, Miss Craig. But Mr. Buchen, our prosecuting attorney, has some questions to ask you."

The younger man smiled, but there was nothing in his smile which appealed to Julia as she obeyed his order—it was hardly an invitation—to sit down.

"You were aboard George Woodford's yacht when it cruised up to his hunting lodge on Evergreen Island, weren't you, Miss Craig?"

"Yes. But—"

"Please. . . ." He held up a meticulously manicured hand. "Just answer my questions, Miss Craig. It will be easier—and quicker. Now," he stopped a moment, giving her that false smile again, "now, you saw Royal Nesbitt."

"Of course."

"When was the last time you saw him?"

"The evening before he—"

"Was murdered?" asked Buchen quickly.

"I—I wasn't going to say that."

• • •

AGAIN Buchen's smile. "Of course not. What were you going to say?"

"I saw him the evening before he disappeared from the yacht. They told me he'd stopped off at Condon to take the plane into town."

"Why?"

"There'd been a hunting accident. Mr. Nesbitt was shot in the shoulder, and—" Julia stopped, confused and helpless. She grew suddenly angry. "Why are you asking me all these questions? Why don't you ask Mr. Woodford? It was his yacht. Nesbitt was his guest, and—"

"I've already talked with George Woodford," said the prosecuting attorney. "In fact," his voice grew smooth, "it was he who suggested we talk with you."

Julia's mouth opened in astonishment. "Why did he suggest that? Why don't you talk with the rest? With Nash, and Mrs. Joseph—"

"All in good time," interrupted the police captain.

"How long had you known Nesbitt? Before you made this yachting trip?"

"Yes," Julia answered — and then could have slit her own tongue.

"Indeed?" said Buchen, his eyes widening. "How long before?"

Julia bit her lip. Unwittingly she had opened the way for Amy to be dragged into this.

"Come on, Miss Craig. Answer the question. How long before this cruise had you known Nesbitt?"

"About a year."

"Ever go out with him, Miss Craig?"

Julia shook her head. "No. . ."

"That's curious. You knew him a year, yet you'd never been out with him. It was a business relationship, then?"

"No—it wasn't."

"No?" repeated Buchen. "Did he call on you, then, at your apartment?"

"Yes," Julia said quickly. "That's where I saw him."

• • •

THE captain and prosecutor exchanged significant glances, as if to say, "Now we're getting somewhere!" Julia could feel little beads of perspiration on her forehead. Her hand trembled violently as she raised it to brush them away. The room seemed to be swaying.

"I can't stand this," she told them suddenly, her voice breaking. "It's not fair! It's not fair! I tell you I—"

"There, there, Miss Craig. Just one more question, then that's all. Did anything happen at Evergreen Island that was at all curious? I mean, beyond the hunting accident?"

He's talked with Woodford, Julia told herself. He knows about Payson. "Y-yes," she faltered. "A man tried to get into the radio room of the boat."

"Oh, yes. Who was he?"

"I—I don't know." She stood up uncertainly. "That's all, now?"

Buchen bowed slightly. "For the present, yes. But I must ask you to remain here as a material witness."

"You mean I—I have to stay in jail?" She looked from one to the other, horrified.

"It's not so bad," the police captain said. "I'll see that the matron, Mrs. Barton—"

"But isn't there any way you can fix it so I don't have to stay?"

Buchen nodded, told her that she might be released on bail. He named a figure which to Julia seemed fantastic.

"But I haven't that much money! I—I couldn't possibly raise it."

Mr. Buchen shrugged. The police captain bent over a paper on his desk. Then the door opened, and a black-garbed elderly woman entered. Julia felt the room whirling faster than ever. She knew that her knees were failing her—and then, quite suddenly, she knew nothing at all. . . .

• • •

WHEN she opened her eyes she lay on a strange, narrow bed in a small room which contained, besides, a bureau and a chair—and one small framed lithograph on the wall. She lay there numbed in body and mind, too dazed to review the swift chain of events which had put her in this place, and too weary to think of getting out.

She looked at the door, surprised that it held no bars. But it was obviously heavy, and the lock was competent. As she looked at it the knob turned, the door opened, and she saw the woman in black. Behind her was Tom Payson.

"Julia! . . ." He hurried to the side of the bed and lifted her to a sitting posture. "Julia, I just now heard what happened, and came down at once. Let's get out of here as quickly as you can manage."

She looked at him vaguely. "I can't, Tom. They're—they're holding me as a material witness, I think they called it."

"But I've put up bail. You're free to leave. All you need do is be available."

"Tom, you can't do that," Julia protested.

"But I have done it! Come on, Julia. I've my car outside."

She was wordless all the way to the apartment, and Payson did not ask questions. He seemed to know that Julia had answered enough questions for one night. But he insisted on going upstairs with her.

In the hall of Julia's floor they encountered Peter Kemp. His tie was awry and his eyes were wide with excitement. "Julia, I was just going down to see what had happened." He stopped, looked at Payson. "Is Miss Craig out on bail?"

Payson nodded. "It's a rotten trick. They had no right to take her down there like that, and she's no more a material witness than you are."

"That's Buchen. He's out to get somewhere politically in this town." Kemp turned to Julia again. "I'm going to defend you, Julia, if they try to point it at you."

"But look here," said Payson suddenly, "I was going to have my own lawyer handle it. She couldn't do better, you know. It's G. Williams Miller."

Peter Kemp looked at Julia.

"I—it's nice of you, Tom," Julia said. "But I've known Peter a long time, and I have confidence in him. Even more confidence than I'd have in your lawyer." She stopped, leaned wearily against the wall with her head in her hands. "Peter . . . do you think it really will be bad for me?"

Poultry and Eggs Profitable Produce

Raising Chickens for early marketing is usually a profitable venture. True, it requires some work, but it pays. To get the best out of it, an early start should be made.

Maintaining flocks for the production of eggs also is profitable, and this too requires care and work in order to produce the egg that brings the better prices.

The STRANGE CASE of JULIA CRAIG

by Nard Jones

Copyright NEA 1936

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JULIA CRAIG, secretary to GEORGE WOODFORD, lawyer, is ambitious to become a night club singer. Because of this she quarrels with PETER KEMP, young lawyer who is in love with her.

Julia shares an apartment with AMY SANDERS.

Woodford gives a yacht party and asks Julia to come as a singer. Others in the party include CINTRA LEE, dancer; MRS. JOSEPH, widow; HUGO NASH and ROYAL NESBITT.

They go to Evergreen Island, where Woodford has a lodge. There Julia meets TOM PAYSON, camping nearby. Woodford, Nash and Nesbitt go hunting and Nesbitt is injured. The party leaves immediately to get him to a doctor.

Julia gets a job singing on TONY LATTA'S gambling ship. She sees Payson frequently. Woodford telephones her and warns her to say nothing of what happened on the yacht.

SMITH GARLAND opens a new night club and hires Julia as the featured singer. On the opening night she learns Payson is backing the club.

Nesbitt's body is discovered. A policeman comes to the night club, tells Julia she must go to headquarters for questioning.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXII

AS long as Julia Craig lived she would never spend another hour such as the one which followed her entrance into that dark building with Dunphy at her side.

"This is Julia Craig," Dunphy said, as if she were some insignicant object he had just taken from his pocket and tossed onto the table.

The police captain nodded. "Sorry to trouble you, Miss Craig. But Mr. Buchen, our prosecuting attorney, has some questions to ask you."

The younger man smiled, but there was nothing in his smile which appealed to Julia as she obeyed his order—it was hardly an invitation—to sit down.

"You were aboard George Woodford's yacht when it cruised up to his hunting lodge on Evergreen Island, weren't you, Miss Craig?"

"Yes. But—"

"Please. . . ." He held up a meticulously manicured hand. "Just answer my questions, Miss Craig. It will be easier—and quicker. Now," he stopped a moment, giving her that false smile again, "now, you saw Royal Nesbitt."

"Of course."

"When was the last time you saw him?"

"The evening before he—"

"Was murdered?" asked Buchen quickly.

"I—I wasn't going to say that."

• • •

AGAIN Buchen's smile. "Of course not. What were you going to say?"

"I saw him the evening before he disappeared from the yacht. They told me he'd stopped off at Condon to take the plane into town."

"Why?"

"There'd been a hunting accident. Mr. Nesbitt was shot in the shoulder, and—" Julia stopped, confused and helpless. She grew suddenly angry. "Why are you asking me all these questions? Why don't you ask Mr. Woodford? It was his yacht. Nesbitt was his guest, and—"

"I've already talked with George Woodford," said the prosecuting attorney. "In fact," his voice grew smooth, "it was he who suggested we talk with you."

Julia's mouth opened in astonishment. "Why did he suggest that? Why don't you talk with the rest? With Nash, and Mrs. Joseph—"

"All in good time," interrupted the police captain.

"How long had you known Nesbitt? Before you made this yachting trip?"

"Yes," Julia answered — and then could have slit her own tongue.

"Indeed?" said Buchen, his eyes widening. "How long before?"

Julia bit her lip. Unwittingly she had opened the way for Amy to be dragged into this.

"Come on, Miss Craig. Answer the question. How long before this cruise had you known Nesbitt?"

"About a year."

"Ever go out with him, Miss Craig?"

Julia shook her head. "No . . ."

"That's curious. You knew him a year, yet you'd never been out with him. It was a business relationship, then?"

"No—it wasn't."

"No?" repeated Buchen. "Did he call on you, then, at your apartment?"

"Yes," Julia said quickly. "That's where I saw him."

• • •

THE captain and prosecutor exchanged significant glances, as if to say, "Now we're getting somewhere!" Julia could feel little beads of perspiration on her forehead. Her hand trembled violently as she raised it to brush them away. The room seemed to be swaying.

"I can't stand this," she told them suddenly, her voice breaking. "It's not fair! It's not fair! I tell you I—"

"There, there, Miss Craig. Just one more question, then that's all. Did anything happen at Evergreen Island that was at all curious? I mean, beyond the hunting accident?"

He's talked with Woodford, Julia told herself. He knows about Payson. "Y-yes," she faltered. "A man tried to get into the radio room of the boat."

"Oh, yes. Who was he?"

"I—I don't know." She stood up uncertainly. "That's all, now?"

Buchen bowed slightly. "For the present, yes. But I must ask you to remain here as a material witness."

"You mean I—I have to stay in jail?" She looked from one to the other, horrified.

"It's not so bad," the police captain said. "I'll see that the matron, Mrs. Barton—"

"But isn't there any way you can fix it so I don't have to stay?"

Buchen nodded, told her that she might be released on bail. He named a figure which to Julia seemed fantastic.

"But I haven't that much money! I—I couldn't possibly raise it."

Mr. Buchen shrugged. The police captain bent over a paper on his desk. Then the door opened, and a black-garbed elderly woman entered. Julia felt the room whirling faster than ever. She knew that her knees were failing her—and then, quite suddenly, she knew nothing at all. . . .

• • •

WHEN she opened her eyes she lay on a strange, narrow bed in a small room which contained, besides, a bureau and a chair—and one small framed lithograph on the wall. She lay there numbed in body and mind, too dazed to review the swift chain of events which had put her in this place, and too weary to think of getting out.

She looked at the door, surprised that it held no bars. But it was obviously heavy, and the lock was competent. As she looked at it the knob turned, the door opened, and she saw the woman in black. Behind her was Tom Payson.

"Julia! . . ." He hurried to the side of the bed and lifted her to a sitting posture. "Julia, I just now heard what happened, and came down at once. Let's get out of here as quickly as you can manage."

She looked at him vaguely. "I can't, Tom. They're—they're holding me as a material witness, I think they called it."

"But I've put up bail. You're free to leave. All you need do is be available."

"Tom, you can't do that," Julia protested.

"But I have done it! Come on, Julia. I've my car outside."

She was wordless all the way to the apartment, and Payson did not ask questions. He seemed to know that Julia had answered enough questions for one night. But he insisted on going upstairs with her.

In the hall of Julia's floor they encountered Peter Kemp. His tie was awry and his eyes were wide with excitement. "Julia, I was just going down to see what had happened." He stopped, looked at Payson. "Is Miss Craig out on bail?"

Payson nodded. "It's a rotten trick. They had no right to take her down there like that, and she's no more a material witness than you are."

"That's Buchen. He's out to get somewhere politically in this town." Kemp turned to Julia again. "I'm going to defend you, Julia, if they try to point it at you."

"But look here," said Payson suddenly, "I was going to have my own lawyer handle it. She couldn't do better, you know. It's G. Williams Miller."

Peter Kemp looked at Julia.

"I—it's nice of you, Tom," Julia said. "But I've known Peter a long time, and I have confidence in him. Even more confidence than I'd have in your lawyer." She stopped, leaned wearily against the wall with her head in her hands. "Peter . . . do you think it really will be bad for me?"

Sub-Zero Temperature Strikes City Again; Mercury Falls Rapidly

A 33 degree drop in temperature was experienced here yesterday when a frigid wind bore down upon the city. After having attained a height of 33 degrees above zero during the day the mercury fell to zero by five o'clock yesterday afternoon and down town thermometers continued to show lower temperature last night.

Saturday's onslaught of arctic weather caused a renewed effort on the part of citizens in fighting the sub-zero degrees. Buildings that were being kept comfortably warm suddenly began to feel the chill of winter. Automobile drivers were again besieged with a multitude of troubles that come with low temperatures, and the few pedestrians who ventured out on the streets hurried thru the icy blasts fighting the cutting winds.

After the mercury sunk to zero the decline continued more slowly, and at one o'clock this (Sunday) morning thermometers in various parts of the city showed unofficial readings of from five to twelve below zero with every indication that the temperature would be still lower during the morning.

The Journal and Courier's survey of temperatures in various parts of the city at midnight resulted as follows:

Joseph Carrigan, engineer at the South Side Pumping plant, reported the mercury there stood at six below zero.

At the Jacksonville State Hospital, the thermometer at the boiler house registered 12 below zero.

J. A. Scott, attendant at the North Side Disposal plant, said the reading there was between 5 and 6 below zero.

John W. Marshall, operator at the Wabash tower stated his thermometer at his home on Webster Avenue registered 10 below at 11:45 p. m., while the thermometer at the tower at midnight registered 8 below zero.

Thermometers in the business district ranged from six to 12 below zero at 1 o'clock this (Sunday) morning.

Lincoln Private Papers Available In 11 More Years

Documents Are Securely Locked In Compartment In Library Of Congress

By Milburn P. Akers
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Abraham Lincoln has been dead for 71 years but it still will be eleven more years before his private papers will become available to historians.

They are locked securely in a sealed compartment at the library of congress and so rigid are the instructions hedging the gift that neither official nor private citizen may lay hands on them until July 26, 1947.

The collection, the largest one extant of Lincoln letters, manuscripts and papers, was given to the library by Robert Todd Lincoln, the Emancipator's son, with the provision that it would not be opened for inspection until 21 years after his death.

The younger Lincoln died July 26, 1926, after a career as union army officer, lawyer, cabinet member and ambassador to Great Britain. He began depositing his father's papers with the Library of Congress in 1919 but no announcement of his gift was made until 1922 when he had completed the task.

The deed of gift provided that "all of said letters, manuscripts, documents and other papers shall be placed in a sealed vault or compartment and carefully preserved from official or public inspection or private view until the expiration of 21 years from the date of my death."

Dr. J. F. Jameson, chief of the library's manuscript division, said the collection filled 126 file cases. Other than to note that the number of years during which the papers were closed to public or private inspection was "much greater than ordinary," library officials have disclosed nothing regarding the collection.

Lincoln's biographers, Nicolay and Hay, who served as his secretaries during his presidency, had access to the papers in the preparation of their "Life of Abraham Lincoln." That was many years before Lincoln's son gave the collection to the nation.

Four Bandits Rob Bank Near Chicago And Make Escape

One Robber, Dressed As Priest, Leads Gang During Holdup

Chicago, Feb. 8—(AP)—Four men, one of them disguised as a priest, robbed the suburban Oak Lawn Trust and Savings bank today of $2,500 and escaped under the fire of two policemen.

Five years ago the bank was robbed of $3,000 and in 1932 two bandits were captured when police foiled an attempted holdup. Another robbery attempt was frustrated last year.

It had been the custom of the bank for some time to keep the front door locked during the early banking hours. Cashier Richard Triezenberg would admit only those customers whom he could identify.

Today a man attired in clerical garb appeared at the door. Triezenberg unhesitatingly released the electrical door control.

The robber, carrying out his role of a priest, stood at the cashier's cage while Triezenberg waited on two customers.

When they left the robber drew a pistol and said: "This is a stickup. Let my pals in."

Triezenberg obeyed and the three robber companions who had waited on the outside rushed into the bank.

The bandits scooped up all loose cash and bills in the cages and hurried out to their automobile.

Policemen John Cleveland and Edward Hosman, who were off duty, came by at the time. Realizing that a robbery had just taken place, they fired at the auto. Soon afterward a highway police squad took up pursuit of the bandits. They were outdistanced.

Would Keep All Republicans Off County Ticket

Charles West Has Filed Suit In Chicago Courts

Chicago, Feb. 8—(AP)—An injunction suit contending that the Republican party has no existence in Cook county (Chicago) was filed today on behalf of Charles West, president of the Rogers Park Civic League, a Republican.

His bill asked Superior Judge Chas. A. Williams to restrain City Clerk Peter J. Brady and County Clerk Michael Flynn from accepting the nominations of any county candidates.

Attorney Gregory A. Gelderman, who with Attorney Thomas F. Reilly brought the suit, explained their theory that the GOP organization committed suicide in Chicago last July.

"In the judicial elections, the Republican leaders agreed not to put forth a slate, after forming a coalition with the Democrats. What Republican candidates there were appeared as Democrats, there was no Republican column on the ticket.

"Consequently, the Republican party failed to secure 5 per cent of the total vote cast, and lost its recognition, under state law, as a political party."

Judge Williams said he would hear arguments later today. A total of 109 Republicans filed for county offices before the suit was brought.

Eleven Marooned On Ice Bound Boat

Paducah, Ky., Feb. 8—(AP)—With a blizzard howling in from the northwest, eleven men were marooned tonight on an ice bound boat in the Ohio river 35 miles from Paducah.

All hope of escape cut off they appeared certain of isolation for at least several days. Seventeen other workmen, who had been part of a government river crew, managed to reach shore and return to Paducah.

C. J. Rhodes, chief engineer at the United States Engineer Department report here, said the trapped men are in no immediate danger. They have food sufficient to last six days.

The marooned workers are Samuel Orr, George L. Jeffries and Amos Clark of Paducah; Charles Rayle, Vevay, Ind.; Lloyd Presser, Burlington, Ky.; William Becker, Cleves, O.; Jewel Green, and Andrew S. Henderson of Brookport, Ill.; Truman Windhorst, Joppa, Ill.; Harley Loven, Karnak, Ill., and Otto Young of Uniontown, Ky.

The quarter boat on which the men must live for an indefinite time is in a sheltered stretch of open water between Hurricane and Plew islands just above Elizabethtown, Ill. The men have access to these islands but cannot reach either the Kentucky or Illinois shores.

The men had been working on a dyke the government is building.

Ickes Summons His Staff To Capital

Washington, Feb. 8—(AP)—Secretary Ickes today summoned the Public Works Administration staff to a three-day conference beginning Monday for "an exchange of ideas, a discussion of common problems in connection with PWA's participation in the work-relief program and reports on the virtual completion of the original PWA program."

Speculation arose immediately over the possibility that Ickes expected President Roosevelt — who committed additional PWA non-federal and low-cost housing appropriations from his budget message—to ask congress for additional funds.

Ickes, who will talk early next week at a Lincoln celebration at Springfield, Ill., will make no speech to the gathering. Col. Horatio B. Hackett, assistant PWA administrator, will be in charge.

Ickes said 70 per cent of old non-federal projects had been completed and that the remaining 30 per cent, involving a total cost of $767,000,000 was "well on the way to completion."

Corvallis, Ore., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Oregon State College officials announced today Hal Moe, freshman football coach, will succeed Larry Walquist of Chicago, former University of Illinois player, as backfield coach for the Beavers. Walquist was credited with developing Oregon State's new style of open play. Lon Stiner continues as head coach. No successor to Moe has been named.

The tomb of the Civil War president, his Springfield home and the nearby reconstructed village of New Salem where Lincoln lived as a young man were ready to receive hundreds of visitors, while many more were expected at meetings in his honor.

Distinguished visitors from all parts of the nation were expected to travel to Lincoln Shrines in this vicinity to participate in ceremonies.

The program will be broadcast over a nationwide network of radio stations.

On Tuesday night, the governor will join Governor Eugene Talmadge of Georgia and Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes as principal guests at a birthday program staged by the midday luncheon club of Springfield. Both will remain for Wednesday's ceremonies, according to present plans.

The Abraham Lincoln association will observe the birthday with a meeting Wednesday afternoon and a dinner that night. Dr. Andrew C. McLaughlin, professor emeritus of American history at the University of Chicago, and Prof. T. V. Smith of the University faculty will be the principal speakers.

Publisher And Governor Clash In Minneapolis

Sweeping Grand Jury Crime Investigation Has Been Promised

Minneapolis, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A sweeping grand jury crime investigation was promised today as Gov. Floyd B. Olson and Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, engaged in a bitter personal exchange over alleged lawlessness here.

To the governor's retort that he "is a fakir in his alleged war on crime" the publisher promptly answered he would formally reply " if Governor Olson is cleared of the Liggett murder x x and not before."

The investigation of alleged widespread vice was pledged by Oliver T. Naugle, foreman of the grand jury who said "there's enough stuff here to keep us busy until next December."

The McCormick-Olson exchange overshadowed other developments of the day in the situation revolving about the slaying of Walter Liggett, crusading editor last December 9, and the chain of events it precipitated. There was no session today of the trial if Isadore Blumenfeld (Kidd Cann) for the killing. Defense testimony was to be resumed Monday.

The governor's statement, issued from Rochester where he is still recuperating from an operation, accused the Chicago publisher of being "a Czaristic minded reactionary" and a "journalistic charlatan." He alleged the Chicagoan was silent when "Chicago was the world's worst cesspool of corruption and crime" and blamed him for being "morally responsible for the deaths of many persons" from dysentery during the 1933 world's Fair because "he suppressed the truth."

It was occasioned by Col. McCormick's campaign of murdering editors in mick's talk last night at Columbus, O., where McCormick asserted "Olson lent aid and assistance to gangland and all who cross his path."

Justice Orr Says Criminal Is Not Getting "Breaks"

Declares Supreme Court Is Handling Cases More Rapidly

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 8—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Warren H. Orr, Carthage, Ill., told the Illinois county and probate judges in convention here today that "the criminal is no longer getting all the breaks."

"Now we are beginning to give the people a few breaks toward the conviction of criminals," he said.

Justice Orr cited four recent decisions of the high court showing the improvement in the administration of criminal law.

"Criminal cases are now reviewed in the term of court after their trial. The docket is in shape so that a decision should be handed down within 60 days after the case reaches us. In instances where this isn't done you will know that the decision of the court was not unanimous and the case was assigned to a different justice to write an opinion," he said.

Charles P. Megan, president of the Illinois State Bar Association, predicted increased powers and slight changes in the functions of county judges.

Probate Judge Harry C. Daniels, of Elgin, was elected president of the association. He succeeded Judge Ray Sesler, Pontiac. County Judge Egerrett Lewis, Benton, was elected first vice-president. Judge Charles M. Webber, of Champaign, was elected second vice-president, and Judge Benjamin S. DeBoice, Springfield, secretary and treasurer.

Distinguished Men Are Announced on Institute Program

Maurice Hindus, F. L. Schuman Among Speakers for College Event

With the addition of a Japanese scholar to represent the Japanese view on oriental problems the full list of speakers for the 1936 MacMurray Institute was completed Saturday, according to an announcement made by President C. P. McClelland. The institute is to be held on Monday and Tuesday, February 24 and 25. The topic this year will be "Problems of the Pacific." As usual, President McClelland has made an attempt to have speakers representing various viewpoints on the central problem.

Dr. No Young Park, a Chinese scholar of eminence who is at present connected with the University of Minnesota, will represent the Chinese view. Japan was to have been represented by a high member of her diplomatic service, but the pressure of duties at Washington has made it impossible for him to appear and he has been replaced by Dr. Yutaka Minakuchi, who is at present a resident of Massachusetts. It is possible that a debate may be arranged between Dr. Park and Dr. Minakuchi on the subject of the relations of Japan and China.

The Russo-Japanese situation, which has been critical for years, will be discussed by Maurice Hindus, one of the best known writers on Russia. Mr. Hindus is a native Russian, but has lived in the United States since before the World war. His many books on Russia and its problems will identify him to a large Jacksonville audience.

"The Problem of the Open Door in China" is to be the topic of Miss Alves Long, of St. Louis. Miss Long is the International Relations chairman of the General Federation of Womans' clubs, an organization with which most of the womens' clubs of America are affiliated.

Prof. Frederick Schuman, a member of the faculties of political science and international relations at the University of Chicago, and one of the country's best known commentators on foreign affairs will discuss the interesting subject, "America and Japan—Neighbors or Enemies?"

P. C. Kinnett, of Alexander, was a business visitor in the city yesterday.

Odd Fellows Plan Dedication of New Home Here Monday

The members of Urania Lodge No. 243, I.O.O.F. will dedicate their new home on West State street on Friday, February 14th. Open house will be held and all Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and their friends will be welcome. An interesting program of speaking, music and other numbers will be given. At the close of the formal program, light refreshments will be served. The dining room will then be cleared and made ready for dancing.

Preceding the dedication of the hall, a class of twenty candidates will be initiated at the regular meeting on Monday, February 10th. The work will be given by the Urania Lodge degree staff, with Harry L. Hutches as captain. The degree staff has been training for a number of weeks, and a large number of Odd Fellows from the nearby lodges are expected to be present.

New Hall Dedication

The dedication of the new hall, however, will not take place until Friday. This hall is situated on the third floor of the Gallagher Block, formerly occupied by the Masonic bodies. The entire third floor of this building was purchased in 1935 by Urania Lodge, and its trustees set to work making plans for remodeling.

All the partitions were torn out and the lodge room placed in the back of this building. This was done with the view of escaping the street noises.

The front of the building has been given over to the club room and to a new dining room.

The dining room is placed next to a fully equipped, modern kitchen, and is so situated that it can be used by the team when putting on degree work. New folding tables have been obtained, so that the dining room may be quickly cleared to allow for dancing on the new hard wood floor.

Club Room

The club room, situated near the head of the stairs, has been finished with two new up to date pool tables, radio, checker and card tables. It will be open at all times to members of the lodge, and to visiting Odd Fellows.

The club room committee consists of Eustic Seymour, James S. Alkire, and A. W. Waltman.

Lodge Room

It is in the lodge room that the greatest effort has been put forth, to make an up-to-date, convenient, well equipped place for holding the regular meetings of the lodge.

The chair of the Noble Grand, the presiding officer, is situated at the east end of the hall. Behind his station is situated a small room, containing the safes of the Orders meeting in the hall and the supply cabinets.

At the west end of the room is the Vice Grand's station, near the inner door of the ante-room.

The hall is nicely carpeted, except around the walls where battleship linoleum has been laid under and immediately in front of the seats. For the present the heat is furnished by three large radiators, any two of which makes the hall every comfortable in the sub-zero weather which we have been recently experiencing. It is lighted by six large indirect lighting units, while four large ceiling fans are already in place to be used when hot weather comes.

The ceiling of the hall is finished in grey and tan panels, while the walls are covered with panels of soft grey which harmonize with the grey floor covering. The acoustic properties of the hall are excellent, and a speaker can be heard clearly by everyone in the lodge room.

On May 25, 1935, the trustees were instructed to purchase the new home, and the deed for the third floor of the building, was recorded on June 3rd.

Homer C. Harrison, then serving as Nobel Grand and J. Cecil Henderson as Vice Grand, appointed a building committee, consisting of Ellis E. Henderson, John T. Roberts and Robert L. Harney, three of the five trustees of the lodge. These men have given unstintedly of their time and services in remodeling the third floor of the building, and they, together with a number of other members of the lodge have freely donated their labor in helping make the needed changes. However, a number of the skilled members of the lodge have also been employed in this work, which has required about three months time.

History of Lodge

Urania Lodge No. 243 was organized in this city on October 7, 1857, with 13 charter members. The original charter was issued on October 13, 1857, and was signed by Augustus C. March as Grand Master and Samuel Willard as Grand Secretary. Wm. D. Crowell, the last survivor of the charter members, died in 1915, after having been a member of this lodge 58 years. The other charter members were James E. Dunlap, P. B. Price, G. W. S. Callen, R. D. Landers, W. T. Dunlap, G. S. Smith, L. DeWees, H. Rice, W. D. R. Trotter, Preston Spates, Phillip G. Gillett and B. F. Bristow. Several of these charter members had been members of Illini Lodge No. 4, and some had belonged to other lodges before becoming members of Urania Lodge.

The first candidates initiated into the new lodge were the late John W. King and Henry Stryker, on October 17, 1857. On October 22, 1857, the late Irvin Dunlap was the third member initiated.

Since the lodge was chartered it has had 132 Noble Grands. Of these, J. W. Bowen and E. M. Vasconcellos, both of this city, and the late David T. Heimlich, Albert C. Baldwin, and J. W. Robinson, served two terms each.

From the time it was instituted, until the fall of 1859, the lodge met in what was known as the Coffman building. Larger quarters being necessary, this lodge, in conjunction with Illini Lodge No. 4 and Ridgely Encampment No. 9 moved into the Chamber's building on the north side of the public square. In 1863 the lodge moved into the Bahan building, which remained Odd Fellows Hall until 1880, when the three lodges moved into the Tomlinson building on the north side of the square. This was one of the best arranged lodge rooms in Illinois. On August 5, 1893, a fire started in one of the adjoining stores east of the hall, completely destroying the lodge room and all furniture and furnishings of the three lodges. George Bardsley, then acting as host, with the help of several others, managed to save the contents and the safe and the new paraphernalia and regalia.

On August 6, 1893, the day after the fire, a new charter was obtained, which was issued by Grand Master Cicero J. Lindley and Grand Secretary James R. Miller. Grand Master Lindley later became a member of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Through the efforts of the late Jack T. Osborne and Albert C. Baldwin, the A.O.U.W. hall on the south side of the square was obtained as a temporary meeting place after the fire. In September of the same year, the third floor of the Ayers Block on West State street was leased, into which the lodge moved in December of that year. After spending 37 years in that hall, the lodge has secured and moved into a home of its own.

Urania Lodge has numbered among its members, many active and well known men of this community. Its two oldest living members, in point of membership, are John J. Schaefer of Van Nuys, California, who was initiated December 24, 1876, and John W. Bowen of Jacksonville, who was initiated December 31, 1876. Both have been presented with a 50 year Veteran's Jewel. The other living 50 year veterans are, Stephen Dunlap and Andrew Leek of this city, and George W. Woodall of Winchester.

The present elective officers of the lodge are, Clinton Moore, Noble Grand; Charles R. Roberts, Jr., Vice Grand; Charles J. Roberts, Recording Secretary; A. G. Leedy, Financial Secretary, and C. E. Williamson, Treasurer.

These officers were installed on January 13, 1936, and were the first officers to be installed in the new lodge room, J. Cecil Henderson, outgoing Noble Grand, presided over the first meeting held in the hall on December 30, 1935.

Charles J. Roberts has served as Recording Secretary since April 1, 1908, and A. G. Leedy as Financial Secretary since January 1, 1920, while C. E. Williamson has served as Treasurer since January 1, 1918.

History of Odd Fellowship

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows was organized in the United States at Baltimore, Maryland on April 26, 1819 by Thomas Wilday. Mr. Wilday had belonged to what was known as the Odd Fellows in England, prior to his immigration to America. These English lodges were practically independent of each other, but a few were loosely held together under the name of the Manchester Unity.

The lodge organized at Baltimore in 1819 consisted of five members, all former Odd Fellows in England. It was called Washington's Lodge No. 1. On February 1, 1820 it was chartered as the Grand Lodge of Maryland by the Duke of York Lodge of England. The following year this lodge surrendered that portion of its charter, designating it as the Grand Lodge of Maryland, and a Grand Lodge of Maryland was organized separate and distinct from the working or subordinate lodges.

On January 15, 1825 the Grand Lodge of the United States, grew out of the Grand Lodge of Maryland formed in 1820, and was duly organized, since which time charters have been issued direct by this body, now known as the Sovereign Grand Lodge, to the Grand Lodges of the various states, and to the individual subordinate lodges, where there is no Grand Lodge.

In all of these activities, Thomas Wilday took a very prominent part, being the first Grand Master in the Grand Lodge of Maryland, and the First Grand Sire in the Sovereign Grand Lodge. He is known as the Father of Odd Fellowship and organized the first lodges in Illinois as well as the other states.

On June 11, 1836 the first Odd Fellow lodge in Illinois was established in Alton, under the name of Western Star lodge. One year later Illini lodge, No. 4, in Jacksonville was organized. On Aug. 22, 1838, a charter was issued to the Grand Lodge of Illinois, which state then contained five subordinate lodges.

Odd Fellow Homes

As Odd Fellows were banded together, not only for social fellowship but for purposes of relieving distress, the various grand lodges soon began to establish orphan homes. Illinois has established an orphans' home at Lincoln, and an old folks home at Mattoon. Both of these homes are modern in every way. Each of these homes is situated on a large farm near the respective cities, where the inmates may profitably spend their time.

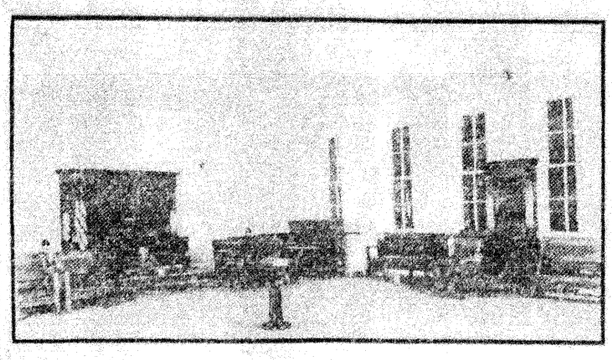
The Orphans' Home at Lincoln is rated as one of the best orphans' homes in the United States. A grade school is maintained on the grounds for the children, in charge of capable teachers. Graduates of the eighth grade are sent to the Lincoln High school. This home is now under the capable management of Roy H. Johnson. Every Odd Fellow who has had the opportunity to visit this home takes great pride therein, and feels that the small annual charge which he pays towards its support is money exceedingly well invested.

The Old Folks' Home at Mattoon is efficiently managed by F. L. Heinecke, who took charge about two years ago. He has already endeared himself to the old folks who are spending their declining days under the sheltering wings of Odd Fellowship.

For 116 years Odd Fellowship has filled a place in the social and economic life of the American people. It has spread from coast to coast and to many foreign countries. It numbers its members by hundreds of thousands. It was established for the purpose of relieving distress, visiting the sick, dead, and caring for the widows and orphans.

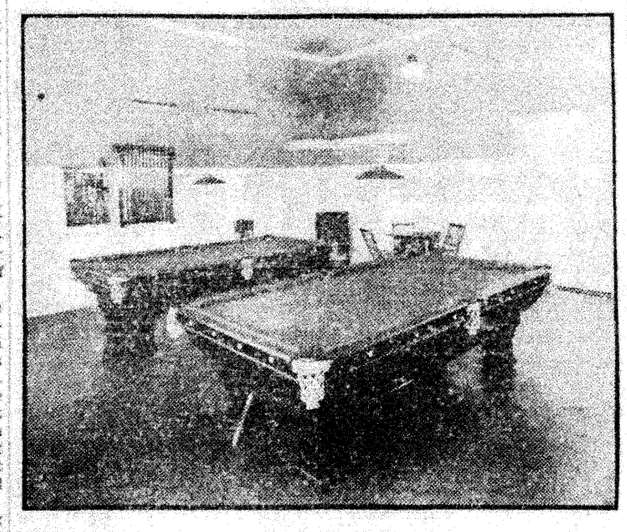
The motto of the order—friendship, love and truth—stands today as firm as it stood in the City of Baltimore in 1819 when the Independent Order of Odd Fellowship was organized.

New Room Furnishes Stately Setting For I.O.O.F. Rites



The above photograph shows the lodge room in the new Urania Lodge headquarters, where the rituals and business of the lodge will be conducted. It furnishes a stately background for the impressive ceremonies of Odd Fellowship. In the new lodge room a class of twenty-two candidates will be initiated Monday evening.

Where the Odd Fellows Will Play; New Recreation Room



Urania Lodge members are proud of the recreational room at their new home in the Gallagher Block on West State street. Well equipped, spacious and conveniently located, the recreation room is expected to prove a highly popular spot with the membership.

Poultry and Eggs Profitable Produce

Raising Chickens for early marketing is usually a profitable venture. True, it requires some work, but it pays. To get the best out of it, an early start should be made.

Maintaining flocks for the production of eggs also is profitable, and this too requires care and work in order to produce the egg that brings the better prices.

The STRANGE CASE of JULIA CRAIG

by Nard Jones

Copyright NEA 1936

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JULIA CRAIG, secretary to GEORGE WOODFORD, lawyer, is ambitious to become a night club singer. Because of this she quarrels with PETER KEMP, young lawyer who is in love with her.

Julia shares an apartment with AMY SANDERS.

Woodford gives a yacht party and asks Julia to come as a singer. Others in the party include CINTRA LEE, dancer; MRS. JOSEPH, widow; HUGO NASH and ROYAL NESBITT.

They go to Evergreen Island, where Woodford has a lodge. There Julia meets TOM PAYSON, camping nearby. Woodford, Nash and Nesbitt go hunting and Nesbitt is injured. The party leaves immediately to get him to a doctor.

Julia gets a job singing on TONY LATTA'S gambling ship. She sees Payson frequently. Woodford telephones her and warns her to say nothing of what happened on the yacht.

SMITH GARLAND opens a new night club and hires Julia as the featured singer. On the opening night she learns Payson is backing the club.

Nesbitt's body is discovered. A policeman comes to the night club, tells Julia she must go to headquarters for questioning.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXII

AS long as Julia Craig lived she would never spend another hour such as the one which followed her entrance into that dark building with Dunphy at her side.

"This is Julia Craig," Dunphy said, as if she were some insignicant object he had just taken from his pocket and tossed onto the table.

The police captain nodded "Sorry to trouble you, Miss Craig. But Mr. Buchen, our prosecuting attorney, has some questions to ask you."

The younger man smiled, but there was nothing in his smile which appealed to Julia as she obeyed his order—it was hardly an invitation—to sit down.

"You were aboard George Woodford's yacht when it cruised up to his hunting lodge on Evergreen Island, weren't you, Miss Craig?"

"Yes. But—"

"Please. . . ." He held up a meticulously manicured hand. "Just answer my questions, Miss Craig. It will be easier—and quicker. Now," he stopped a moment, giving her that false smile again, "now, you saw Royal Nesbitt."

"Of course."

"When was the last time you saw him?"

"The evening before he—"

"Was murdered?" asked Buchen quickly.

"I—I wasn't going to say that."

• • •

AGAIN Buchen's smile. "Of course not. What were you going to say?"

"I saw him the evening before he disappeared from the yacht. They told me he'd stopped off at Condon to take the plane into town."

"Why?"

"There'd been a hunting accident. Mr. Nesbitt was shot in the shoulder, and—" Julia stopped, confused and helpless. She grew suddenly angry. "Why are you asking me all these questions? Why don't you ask Mr. Woodford? It was his yacht. Nesbitt was his guest, and—"

"I've already talked with George Woodford," said the prosecuting attorney. "In fact," his voice grew smooth, "it was he who suggested we talk with you."

Julia's mouth opened in astonishment. "Why did he suggest that? Why don't you talk with the rest? With Nash, and Mrs. Joseph—"

"All in good time," interrupted the police captain.

"How long had you known Nesbitt? Before you made this yachting trip?"

"Yes," Julia answered — and then could have slit her own tongue.

"Indeed?" said Buchen, his eyes widening. "How long before?"

Julia bit her lip. Unwittingly she had opened the way for Amy to be dragged into this.

"Come on, Miss Craig. Answer the question. How long before this cruise had you known Nesbitt?"

"About a year."

"Ever go out with him, Miss Craig?"

Julia shook her head. "No. . ."

"That's curious. You knew him a year, yet you'd never been out with him. It was a business relationship, then?"

"No—it wasn't."

"No?" repeated Buchen. "Did he call on you, then, at your apartment?"

"Yes," Julia said quickly. "That's where I saw him."

• • •

THE captain and prosecutor exchanged significant glances, as if to say, "Now we're getting somewhere!" Julia could feel little beads of perspiration on her forehead. Her hand trembled violently as she raised it to brush them away. The room seemed to be swaying.

"I can't stand this," she told them suddenly, her voice breaking. "It's not fair! It's not fair! I tell you I—"

"There, there, Miss Craig. Just one more question, then that's all. Did anything happen at Evergreen Island that was at all curious? I mean, beyond the hunting accident?"

He's talked with Woodford, Julia told herself. He knows about Payson. "Y-yes," she faltered. "A man tried to get into the radio room of the boat."

"Oh, yes. Who was he?"

"I—I don't know." She stood up uncertainly. "That's all, now?"

Buchen bowed slightly. "For the present, yes. But I must ask you to remain here as a material witness."

"You mean I—I have to stay in jail?" She looked from one to the other, horrified.

"It's not so bad," the police captain said. "I'll see that the matron, Mrs. Barton—"

"But isn't there any way you can fix it so I don't have to stay?"

Buchen nodded, told her that she might be released on bail. He named a figure which to Julia seemed fantastic.

"But I haven't that much money! I—I couldn't possibly raise it."

Mr. Buchen shrugged. The police captain bent over a paper on his desk. Then the door opened, and a black-garbed elderly woman entered. Julia felt the room whirling faster than ever. She knew that her knees were failing her—and then, quite suddenly, she knew nothing at all. . . .

• • •

WHEN she opened her eyes she lay on a strange, narrow bed in a small room which contained, besides, a bureau and a chair—and one small framed lithograph on the wall. She lay there numbed in body and mind, too dazed to review the swift chain of events which had put her in this place, and too weary to think of getting out.

She looked at the door, surprised that it held no bars. But it was obviously heavy, and the lock was competent. As she looked at it the knob turned, the door opened, and she saw the woman in black. Behind her was Tom Payson.

"Julia! . . ." He hurried to the side of the bed and lifted her to a sitting posture. "Julia, I just now heard what happened, and came down at once. Let's get out of here as quickly as you can manage."

She looked at him vaguely. "I can't, Tom. They're—they're holding me as a material witness, I think they called it."

"But I've put up bail. You're free to leave. All you need do is be available."

"Tom, you can't do that," Julia protested.

"But I have done it! Come on, Julia. I've my car outside."

She was wordless all the way to the apartment, and Payson did not ask questions. He seemed to know that Julia had answered enough questions for one night. But he insisted on going upstairs with her.

In the hall of Julia's floor they encountered Peter Kemp. His tie was awry and his eyes were wide with excitement. "Julia, I was just going down to see what had happened." He stopped, looked at Payson. "Is Miss Craig out on bail?"

Payson nodded. "It's a rotten trick. They had no right to take her down there like that, and she's no more a material witness than you are."

"That's Buchen. He's out to get somewhere politically in this town." Kemp turned to Julia again. "I'm going to defend you, Julia, if they try to point it at you."

"But look here," said Payson suddenly, "I was going to have my own lawyer handle it. She couldn't do better, you know. It's G. Williams Miller."

Peter Kemp looked at Julia.

"I—it's nice of you, Tom," Julia said. "But I've known Peter a long time, and I have confidence in him. Even more confidence than I'd have in your lawyer." She stopped, leaned wearily against the wall with her head in her hands. "Peter . . . do you think it really will be bad for me?"

HOW DO YOU KNOW YOU "CAN'T AFFORD" A BUICK?

WE GRANT you that Buick looks expensive—smart things usually do! We grant you a lot of people think of it in terms of a $1500 automobile because Buick used to cost all of that—and some still do.

But give us a chance, and we'll show you in cold figures how to own a Buick for little if any more than one of the lowest-priced cars would cost you.

We'll show you a big car with a small car operating cost. We'll show you roominess and comfort and safety, with a freedom from repair bills that makes costs-per-mile hit a new low. We'll show you how to get a luxury car—on a brass-tacks budget!

There's no mystery to it—no trick figuring. Buick simply licked the problem of building first-class quality in a low-priced car. Now we've got some interesting figures that will change your ideas about automobile values.

Don't resign yourself to small-car comfort, small-car ability until you find out how very little per week it costs to own a Buick.

Sub-Zero Temperature Strikes City Again; Mercury Falls Rapidly

A 33 degree drop in temperature was experienced here yesterday when a frigid wind bore down upon the city. After having attained a height of 33 degrees above zero during the day the mercury fell to zero by five o'clock yesterday afternoon and down town thermometers continued to show lower temperature last night.

Saturday's onslaught of arctic weather caused a renewed effort on the part of citizens in fighting the sub-zero degrees. Buildings that were being kept comfortably warm suddenly began to feel the chill of winter. Automobile drivers were again besieged with a multitude of troubles that come with low temperatures, and the few pedestrians who ventured out on the streets hurried thru the icy blasts fighting the cutting winds.

After the mercury sunk to zero the decline continued more slowly, and at one o'clock this (Sunday) morning thermometers in various parts of the city showed unofficial readings of from five to twelve below zero with every indication that the temperature would be still lower during the morning.

The Journal and Courier's survey of temperatures in various parts of the city at midnight resulted as follows:

Joseph Carrigan, engineer at the South Side Pumping plant, reported the mercury there stood at six below zero.

At the Jacksonville State Hospital, the thermometer at the boiler house registered 12 below zero.

J. A. Scott, attendant at the North Side Disposal plant, said the reading there was between 5 and 6 below zero.

Howard Moore, attendant at the South Side Disposal plant, reported his thermometer stood at four below.

John W. Marshall, operator at the Wabash tower stated his thermometer at his home on Webster Avenue registered 10 below at 11:45 p. m., while the thermometer at the tower at midnight registered 8 below zero.

Thermometers in the business district ranged from six to 12 below zero at 1 o'clock this (Sunday) morning.

Distinguished Men Are Announced on Institute Program

Maurice Hindus, F. L. Schuman Among Speakers for College Event

With the addition of a Japanese scholar to represent the Japanese view on oriental problems the full list of speakers for the 1936 MacMurray Institute was completed Saturday, according to an announcement made by President C. P. McClelland. The institute is to be held on Monday and Tuesday, February 24 and 25. The topic this year will be "Problems of the Pacific." As usual, President McClelland has made an attempt to have speakers representing various viewpoints on the central problem.

Dr. No Young Park, a Chinese scholar of eminence who is at present connected with the University of Minnesota, will represent the Chinese view. Japan was to have been represented by a high member of her diplomatic service, but the pressure of duties at Washington has made it impossible for him to appear and he has been replaced by Dr. Yutaka Minakuchi, who is at present a resident of Massachusetts. It is possible that a debate may be arranged between Dr. Park and Dr. Minakuchi on the subject of the relations of Japan and China.

The Russo-Japanese situation, which has been critical for years, will be discussed by Maurice Hindus, one of the best known writers on Russia. Mr. Hindus is a native Russian, but has lived in the United States since before the World war. His many books on Russia and its problems will identify him to a large Jacksonville audience.

"The Problem of the Open Door in China" is to be the topic of Miss Alves Long, of St. Louis. Miss Long is the International Relations chairman of the General Federation of Womans' clubs, an organization with which most of the womens' clubs of America are affiliated.

Prof. Frederick Schuman, a member of the faculties of political science and international relations at the University of Chicago, and one of the country's best known commentators on foreign affairs will discuss the interesting subject, "America and Japan —Neighbors or Enemies?"

P. C. Kinnett, of Alexander, was a business visitor in the city yesterday.

Odd Fellows Plan Dedication of New Home Here Monday

The members of Urania Lodge No. 243, I.O.O.F. will dedicate their new home on West State street on Friday, February 14th. Open house will be held and all Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and their friends will be welcome. An interesting program of speaking, music and other numbers will be given. At the close of the formal program, light refreshments will be served. The dining room will then be cleared and made ready for dancing.

Preceding the dedication of the hall, a class of twenty candidates will be initiated at the regular meeting on Monday, February 10th. The work will be given by the Urania Lodge degree staff, with Harry L. Hutches as captain. The degree staff has been training for a number of weeks, and a large number of Odd Fellows from the nearby lodges are expected to be present.

New Hall Dedication

The dedication of the new hall, however, will not take place until Friday. This hall is situated on the third floor of the Gallagher Block, formerly occupied by the Masonic bodies. The entire third floor of this building was purchased in 1935 by Urania Lodge, and its trustees set to work making plans for remodeling.

All the partitions were torn out and the lodge room placed in the back of this building. This was done with the view of escaping the street noises.

The front of the building has been given over to the club room and to a new dining room.

The dining room is placed next to a fully equipped, modern kitchen, and is so situated that it can be used by the team when putting on degree work. New folding tables have been obtained, so that the dining room may be quickly cleared to allow for dancing on the new hard wood floor.

Club Room

The club room, situated near the head of the stairs, has been finished with two new up to date pool tables, radio, checker and card tables. It will be open at all times to members of the lodge, and to visiting Odd Fellows.

The club room committee consists of Eustic Seymour, James S. Alkire, and A. W. Waltman.

Lodge Room

It is in the lodge room that the greatest effort has been put forth, to make an up-to-date, convenient, well equipped place for holding the regular meetings of the lodge.

The chair of the Noble Grand, the presiding officer, is situated at the east end of the hall. Behind his station is situated a small room, containing the safes of the Orders meeting in the hall and the supply cabinets.

At the west end of the room is the Vice Grand's station, near the inner door of the ante-room.

The hall is nicely carpeted, except around the walls where battleship linoleum has been laid under and immediately in front of the seats. For the present the heat is furnished by three large radiators, any two of which makes the hall every comfortable in the sub-zero weather which we have been recently experiencing. It is lighted by six large indirect lighting units, while four large ceiling fans are already in place to be used when hot weather comes.

The ceiling of the hall is finished in grey and tan panels, while the walls are covered with panels of soft grey which harmonize with the grey floor covering. The acoustic properties of the hall are excellent, and a speaker can be heard clearly by everyone in the lodge room.

On May 25, 1935, the trustees were instructed to purchase the new home, and the deed for the third floor of the building, was recorded on June 3rd.

Homer C. Harrison, then serving as Nobel Grand and J. Cecil Henderson as Vice Grand, appointed a building committee, consisting of Ellis E. Henderson, John T. Roberts and Robert L. Harney, three of the five trustees of the lodge. These men have given unstintedly of their time and services in remodeling the third floor of the building, and they, together with a number of other members of the lodge have freely donated their labor in helping make the needed changes. However, a number of the skilled members of the lodge have also been employed in this work, which has required about three months time.

History of Lodge

Urania Lodge No. 243 was organized in this city on October 7, 1857, with 13 charter members. The original charter was issued on October 13, 1857, and was signed by Augustus C. March as Grand Master and Samuel Willard as Grand Secretary. Wm. D. Crowell, the last survivor of the charter members, died in 1915, after having been a member of this lodge 58 years. The other charter members were James E. Dunlap, P. B. Price, G. W. S. Callen, R. D. Landers, W. T. Dunlap, G. S. Smith, L. DeWees, H. Rice, W. D. R. Trotter, Preston Spates, Phillip G. Gillett and B. F. Bristow. Several of these charter members had been members of Illini Lodge No. 4, and some had belonged to other lodges before becoming members of Urania Lodge.

The first candidates initiated into the new lodge were the late John W. King and Henry Stryker, on October 17, 1857. On October 22, 1857, the late Irvin Dunlap was the third member initiated.

Since the lodge was chartered it has had 132 Noble Grands. Of these, J. W. Bowen and E. M. Vasconcellos, both of this city, and the late David T. Heimlich, Albert C. Baldwin, and J. W. Robinson, served two terms each.

From the time it was instituted, until the fall of 1859, the lodge met in what was known as the Coffman building. Larger quarters being necessary, this lodge, in conjunction with Illini Lodge No. 4 and Ridgely Encampment No. 9 moved into the Chamber's building on the north side of the public square. In 1863 the lodge moved into the Bahan building, which remained Odd Fellows Hall until 1880, when the three lodges moved into the Tomlinson building on the north side of the square. This was one of the best arranged lodge rooms in Illinois. On August 5, 1898, a fire started in one of the adjoining stores east of the hall, completely destroying the lodge room and all furniture and furnishings of the three lodges. George Bardsley, then acting as host, with the help of several others, managed to save the contents and the safe and the new paraphernalia and regalia.

On August 6, 1898, the day after the fire, a new charter was obtained, which was issued by Grand Master Cicero J. Lindley and Grand Secretary James R. Miller. Grand Master Lindley later became a member of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Through the efforts of the late Jack T. Osborne and Albert C. Baldwin, the A.O.U.W. hall on the south side of the square was obtained as a temporary meeting place after the fire. In September of the same year, the third floor of the Ayers Block on West State street was leased, into which the lodge moved in December of that year. After spending 37 years in that hall, the lodge has secured and moved into a home of its own.

Urania Lodge has numbered among its members many active and well known men of this community. Its two oldest living members, in point of membership, are John J. Schaefer of Van Nuys, California, who was initiated Deceber 24, 1876, and John W. Bowen of Jacksonville, who was initiated December 31, 1876. Both have been presented with a 50 year Veteran's Jewel. The other living 50 year veterans are, Stephen Dunlap and Andrew Leck of this city, and George W. Woodall of Winchester.

The present elective officers of the lodge are, Clinton Moore, Noble Grand; Charles R. Roberts, Jr., Vice Grand; Charles J. Roberts, Recording Secretary; A. G. Leedy, Financial Secretary, and C. E. Williamson, Treasurer.

These officers were installed on January 13, 1936, and were the first officers to be installed in the new lodge room. J. Cecil Henderson, outgoing Noble Grand, presided over the first meeting held in the hall on December 30, 1935.

Charles J. Roberts has served as Recording Secretary since April 1, 1908, and A. G. Leedy as Financial Secretary since January 1, 1920, while C. E. Williamson has served as Treasurer since January 1, 1918.

History of Odd Fellowship

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows was organized in the United States at Baltimore, Maryland on April 26, 1819 by Thomas Wilday. Mr. Wilday had belonged to what was known as the Odd Fellows in England, prior to his immigration to America. These English lodges were practically independent of each other, but a few were loosely held together under the name of the Manchester Unity.

The lodge organized at Baltimore in 1819 consisted of five members, all former Odd Fellows in England. It was called Washington's Lodge No. 1. On February 1, 1820 it was chartered as the Grand Lodge of Maryland by the Duke of York Lodge of England. The following year this lodge surrendered that portion of its charter, designating it as the Grand Lodge of Maryland, and a Grand Lodge of Maryland was organized separate and distinct from the working or subordinate lodges.

On January 15, 1825 the Grand Lodge of the United States, grew out of the Grand Lodge of Maryland formed in 1820, and was duly organized, since which time charters have been issued direct by this body, now known as the Sovereign Grand Lodge, to the Grand Lodges of the various states, and to the individual subordinate lodges, where there is no Grand Lodge.

In all of these activities, Thomas Wilday took a very prominent part, being the first Grand Master in the Grand Lodge of Maryland, and the First Grand Sire in the Sovereign Grand Lodge. He is known as the Father of Odd Fellowship and organized the first lodges in Illinois as well as the other states.

On June 11, 1836 the first Odd Fellow lodge in Illinois was established in Alton, under the name of Western Star lodge. One year later Illini lodge, No. 4, in Jacksonville was organized. On Aug. 22, 1838, a charter was issued to the Grand Lodge of Illinois, which state then contained five subordinate lodges.

Odd Fellow Homes

As Odd Fellows were banded together, not only for social fellowship but for purposes of relieving distress, the various grand lodges soon began to establish orphan homes. Illinois has established an orphans' home at Lincoln, and an old folks home at Mattoon. Both of these homes are modern in every way. Each of these homes is situated on a large farm near the respective cities, where the inmates may profitably spend their time.

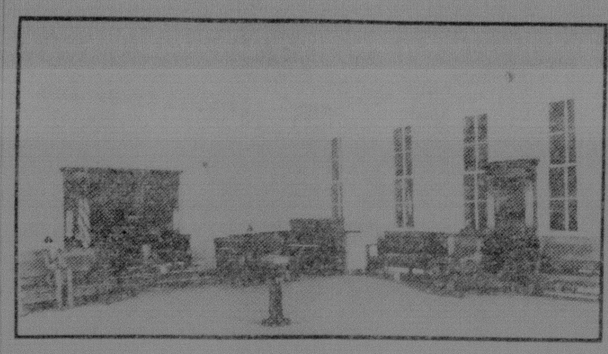
The Orphans' Home at Lincoln is rated as one of the best orphans homes in the United States. A grade school is maintained on the grounds for the children, in charge of capable teachers. Graduates of the eighth grade are sent to the Lincoln High school. This home is now under the capable management of Roy H. Johnson. Every Odd Fellow who has had the opportunity to visit this home takes great pride therein, and feels that the small annual charge which he pays towards its support is money exceedingly well invested.

The Old Folks' Home at Mattoon is efficiently managed by P. L. Heinecke, who took charge about two years ago. He has already endeared himself to the old folks who are spending their declining days under the sheltering wings of Odd Fellowship.

For 116 years Odd Fellowship has filled a place in the social and economic life of the American people. It has spread from coast to coast and to many foreign countries. It numbers its members by hundreds of thousands. It was established for the purpose of relieving distress, visiting the sick, dead, and caring for the widows and orphans.

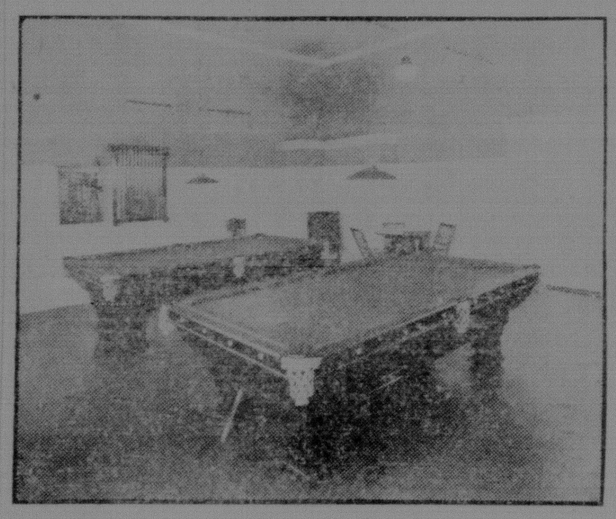
The motto of the order—friendship, love and truth—stands today as firm as it stood in the City of Baltimore in 1819, when the Independent Order of Odd fellowship was organized.

New Room Furnishes Stately Setting For I.O.O.F. Rites



The above photograph shows the lodge room in the new Urania Lodge headquarters, where the rituals and business of the lodge will be conducted. It furnishes a stately background for the impressive ceremonies of Odd Fellowship. In the new lodge room a class of twenty-two candidates will be initiated Monday evening.

Where the Odd Fellows Will Play; New Recreation Room



Urania Lodge members are proud of the recreational room at their new home in the Gallagher Block on West State street. Well equipped, spacious and conveniently located, the recreation room is expected to prove a highly popular spot with the membership.

Supper will be served at the school house at 6 o'clock. After supper the party will drive to Jacksonville to attend the picture, "A Tale of Two Cities."

Almost every evening many students of Chapin High school have been participating in the winter sports of skating and tobagganing on the pond east of Chapin.

Miss Thyra Smith was welcomed into the faculty of the school this week. She is to take Miss Merceles Heisel's place as teacher of English, home economics, history, and dramatics.

Mrs. Elmer Wilson, wife of our janitor, is a patient at Passavant hospital, Jacksonville, where she underwent an appendectomy on Thursday, January 30.

Alfred Enke, '34, was a visitor at the school Wednesday, February 5.

Young men and young women usually don't launch their careers until their school days are well behind them. In Hollywood, though, careers and the three R's run hand in hand. Here, in a studio classroom, are a group of famous pupils with their "schoolmarm," Rachel Smith. In the front row are Baby LeRoy and Billy Lee; in the rear, Virginia Weidler and Lois Kent. In the corner is Benny Bartlett, registering concentration.

HOW DO YOU KNOW YOU "CAN'T AFFORD" A BUICK?

WE GRANT you that Buick looks expensive — smart things usually do! We grant you a lot of people think of it in terms of a $1500 automobile because Buick used to cost all of that—and some still do.

But give us a chance, and we'll show you in cold figures how to own a Buick for little if any more than one of the lowest-priced cars would cost you.

We'll show you a big car with a small car operating cost. We'll show you roominess and comfort and safety, with a freedom from repair bills that makes costs-per-mile hit a new low. We'll show you how to get a luxury car—on a brass-tacks budget!

There's no mystery to it—no trick figuring. Buick simply licked the problem of building first-class quality in a low-priced car. Now we've got some interesting figures that will change your ideas about automobile values.

Don't resign yourself to small-car comfort, small-car ability until you find out how very little per week it costs to own a Buick.

LOWER FINANCING CHARGES
The new GMAC 6% TIME PAYMENT PLAN not only simplifies financing but actually cuts the cost of buying a car on time. Use these savings to get a better car . . . list prices of the new Buicks begin at $765 at the factory, subject to change without notice.

PROPERTY FOR SALE

New York, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Among other items that may be purchased in Ebullent Times Square is a piece of property just six inches wide and 100 feet deep.

Edward J. Wall, of the Paramount Real Estate department said the parcel, a knife-like gash between two great buildings on West Forty-Fourth street, was the result of a miscalculation of surveys several years ago.

He doesn't know what anyone would want to buy the property for, he said, but it's for sale anyway.

SLIDING SAFE AT HOME

Jimmy (Rip) Collins, St. Louis Cardinals' first sacker, may be sliding down grade, but that doesn't mean that the skill of one of the majors' leading initial sack guardians is decreasing. Rip, shown above enjoying some "belly slams" in front of his Rochester, N. Y., home with his son, Warren, predicts a big year for himself and the Red Birds.

Hog Sales Strong To Shade Higher

Chicago, Feb. 8—(AP)—Scattered hog sales were strong to a shade higher today but this was the only activity in the livestock market.

A few hogs sold from $10.25 to $10.45 the top, and some heavies bulked at $9.80 to $10. Nothing was done in cattle and sheep. Only 5,000 hogs were received and these included 4,500 direct. Estimated holdover was 1,000. Cattle receipts totaled 300, calves 100, sheep 3,000.

The cold weather livestock market developed pronounced irregularity during the week. The resulting contraction in receipts and improvement in consumer demand for meat stimulated hog and lamb prices but the cattle trade was semi-demoralized.

Hogs fluctuated wildly, extremely sensitive to supply variations. The price at one time was lifted to a $10.85 peak, highest for February in six years, but a late reaction occurred when marketings expanded. The net gain for the week was around 20 cents or more per hundredweight, yesterday's average price being $10.17 compared with $9.84 a week earlier. A year ago the average was around $8.10.

Receipts of all classes of livestock were well below the previous week's levels. Shipping orders for cattle fell off with the spread of the frigid wave eastward. Better grade cattle lost 50 to 75 cents with instances $1 down at the close and many offerings were taken off the market.

Lamb prices closed strong to 15 cents higher compared with a week ago. The week's top was $10.90 but at the close the best price was $10.65.

Stock Market Tone Is About Steady

By Frank MacMillen
Associated Press Financial Writer

New York, Feb. 8—(AP)—Prices held well against profit-taking in the stock market today, and toward the finish appeared to be gathering vitality.

The final tone was about steady for the bulk of the list with strong spots cropping out here and there even while some realizing still went on.

For the two-hour session the trading pace was hustling, with turnover in the stock exchange at 1,252,480 shares, although lower than the previous Saturday's 1,758,972 shares.

Talk of inflation was still relegated to the background, but received a small fillip when it became known that arrangements had been made for further moderate exports of gold from New York to Paris and Amsterdam.

No change was recorded in the Associated Press average of 60 stocks at 60.4. The 15 utilities shaded up .1 of a point to another new high for 1935-36, while the 15 rails were as much down and the 30 industrials were level.

The fact that leading foreign exchanges, including the French franc, continued to hover around the gold shipping point, did not seem to worry banking quarters particularly.

The French franc closed unchanged at 6.69½ cents and guilders were .02 of a cent easier at 68.77 cents. Sterling was ⅛ of a cent easier at $5.02⅛.

Wheat Prices Up Cent A Bushel

By John P. Boughan
Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago, Feb. 8—(AP)—Stirred by crop damage reports from the southwest, and predictions extreme cold would extend into next week, wheat rose nearly a cent a bushel today.

Kansas and Oklahoma both advised of actual injury done to wheat with further losses expected. Dispatches from Kansas said snow covering was scanty or altogether absent over most of the state, and temperatures were 22 below zero in places.

Notwithstanding transient downturns of the Winnipeg market to fresh bottom price records for the season, wheat in Chicago closed firm at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅜ higher, May 98⅛-⅜, corn ⅛-¼ up, May 60⅜, oats unchanged to ⅛ advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10 cents.

July contracts, representing first deliveries from the 1936 domestic wheat harvest, displayed greater strength than other months did. May wheat which stands for grain already in bins, was inclined to lag owing to Winnipeg weakness and relative lack of export demand. Meanwhile, crop authorities emphasized that although damage from extreme cold may not consist of outright winter killing, such weather thins the stands in backward fields and leaves remaining plants weaker, necessitating usually good conditions the remainder of the season if even a fair crop is to be attained.
